

CITY EXPECTED TO MAKE FIGHT FOR ZONE LAW

Councilman White Will Request Appeal From Adverse Ruling by Georgia Supreme Court.

STATE COURT HOLDS MEASURE ILLEGAL

Justice Beck Writes Decision Which Holds City Has No Right To Exercise 'Police Power.'

Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, announced Thursday night that he will ask city council Monday to request City Attorney James L. Mayson to appeal from the decision of the Georgia supreme court earlier in the day which declared illegal certain sections of the city zoning plan. He stated that he will insist that the decision be carried to the United States supreme court.

"The city of Atlanta spent about $25,000 in perfecting the plan and we are determined to ask the ruling of the higher court in an effort to enforce provisions of the program," Mr. White said.

"Other cities have made similar plans and the United States court has ruled them legal. We employed an expert—the same man who has done the same work in other cities of the country—and our plan is practically the same that other large cities have approved."

That portion of the city's zoning ordinance which prohibits erection of retail stores in districts zoned as exclusively residential is unconstitutional, according to the opinion of the Georgia supreme court.

Justice Marcus W. Beck, in writing the opinion, in which all justices made it plain that the ruling only concerned the portion of the law passed upon and was of no effect in regard to other portions of the extensive and elaborate ordinance of which it is a part.

The case was that of Mrs. Chalmers S. Smith against the city of Atlanta, appealed from Fulton superior court, and involved the right of Mrs. Smith to erect store buildings on a piece of property she owns on Piedmont avenue near Southern railway tracks. Prior to Councilman White's announcement, Mayor Walter A. Sims stated that he could not say whether he would recommend appeal to the United States supreme court until after he has opportunity to confer at length with the city attorney. Major Sims recalled, however, that although

Prince Carol To Quit Lover, Rejoin Spouse

King Ferdinand Said To Have Met Condition of Banishing Stirbey.

Milan, February 11.—Prince Carol of Rumania, it is reported, will soon part amicably from his love mate, Magda Lupescu, and will become reconciled with his wife, the Princess Helen.

For the sake of their child the princess is ready to forgive the man who recently renounced his rights to the Rumanian throne and came here to dwell with Mme. Lupescu.

Mme. Lupescu will settle in Paris, it is understood, and Carol soon afterward will move to a residence on Lake Garda in order to hasten the full recovery of his health. After spending two months in Spain, he will meet Helen at Venice and return with her to Bucharest.

It is reported that King Ferdinand of Rumania has accepted the condition which Carol demanded before he would consent to returning to the capital and to reconciling himself with Helen.

This condition is said to have been the dropping of Prince Stirbey as court adviser. Carol strongly objects to his presence, owing to the widespread gossip roused recently by his friendship with Queen Marie.

Under this arrangement Carol would have restored to him all his rights to the throne when he returned.

SENATE EXPECTED TO PASS TAX BILL AT SESSION TODAY

Conferences Between House and Senate Committees Monday To Adjust Differences.

REPEAL OF AUTO LEVIES UNLIKELY

Tax-Free Movies and Games Seem Certain, However, To Be Assured To American Taxpayers.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, February 11.—Tax-free movies, theaters and athletic games appear to be assured for the American people. They still will have to pay a sales tax on automobiles, however.

These will be the outstanding results affecting the general public from the conference on the tax bill beginning Monday, it was indicated by an investigation Thursday. Differences in the house and senate bills will be adjusted at the conference. Preparations were made Thursday to send the bill to conference as soon as it passes the senate, expected Friday.

Out of the $100,000,000 extra tax reduction voted by the senate in an hour of generosity, the only benefit to the average citizen expected to survive the conference will be the repeal of taxes on admissions and club dues, a reduction of $24,000,000 under that provided by the house. The senate, it seems certain, will have to give in on abolition of the automobile tax to the house, which levied a rate of 3 per cent instead of the 5 per cent in the present law. Repeal of this tax would cost $69,000,000, a slice that house conferees will not accept.

As part of the general trading, however, the house is expected to yield to the senate in abolition of the 2 per cent tax on trucks, which will cause a loss in revenue of only $1,000,000.

The other changes are expected to be as follows:

Retention of the estate tax with a 20 per cent maximum rate as voted by the house, but with a reduction in the credit allowed to the states from 50 per cent to 25 per cent. The senate repealed the estate tax and its leaders regarded the 80 per cent credit as particularly objectionable. A credit of 25 per cent is allowed in the present law.

Surplus reductions made by the senate on incomes between $20,000 and $100,000 are expected to be accepted by the house.

Under such a program of trading the loss of revenue caused by the extra senate reductions would be nearly wiped out and thus the final bill would more nearly satisfy Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who said yesterday that the additional cuts made by the senate would cause a deficit next year.

ATLANTA-TO-MIAMI CONTRACT IS LET

Tampa Concern To Start Air Mail Service in Florida April 1 and to Atlanta Upon June 1.

Washington, February 11.—(AP)—The Florida Airways corporation of New York and Tampa, Fla., today was awarded the contract for operating the air mail service between Atlanta, Jacksonville, Tampa and Miami.

The Florida Airways corporation will be given 60 days in which to execute a formal contract. The service between Miami, Tampa and Jacksonville must begin by April 1 and be extended to Atlanta by June 1. The company will receive 80 per cent of the revenues derived and may carry merchandise and passengers in addition to the mails.

The postoffice department has been advised that John Harding, Jr., who made the round-the-world flight with the army air squadron, will be in charge of maintenance of the company's equipment. Fourteen planes will be used, ten of which will be in regular service and four in reserve. The planes will be 10 cents an ounce, which will include transportation by train to points beyond terminals.

Eight hours is the schedule time of trips. A plane will leave Miami and Atlanta at 7 a. m. daily except Sunday and the other terminal at 3 p. m.

Palm Beach To Substitute '28' for '400'

Bath and Tennis Club To Separate Sheep From Goats.

Palm Beach, February 11.—Palm Beach will substitute the "28" for the "400."

A bath and tennis club, composed of the most aristocratic and socially secure members of the winter colony, will open Friday just south of the Casino beach, where the comparatively unexcited hereafter will be permitted to bask or swim by themselves.

The club beach contains 28 family bath houses, each having two dressing rooms, a sitting room and a porch, covered by a bright awning. The beach is entirely enclosed by the horseshoe of bath houses. A la carte food on the beach and tennis courts will permit members to spend an entire day within their enclosure without mixing with non-members.

Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, is honorary president. A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., is president, and others equally prominent are members of the committee on commissions.

CHICAGO APPEALS FOR NATIONAL AID TO CHECK GUNMEN

Claims Sicilian Secret Societies Have Instituted Reign of Terror And Defeated Justice.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, February 11.—The Coolidge administration took prompt steps today to deal with the reign of terror in Chicago produced by gangs of Sicilian gunmen.

When the situation in Chicago was brought to the attention of the administration, Secretary of Labor Davis ordered a survey of the conditions described and stated that he would go the limit to rid the country of aliens, whose lawlessness has intimidated the people of an entire community and thwarted the dispensation of justice in the second largest city of the United States.

There also is to be a government investigation of the secret Sicilian organizations with headquarters in Chicago, which is known to import killers from Sicily, and is said to be able to get them past the immigration officials even at Ellis Island, New York City, without any difficulty. It should be found that bribery of immigration officials is involved in the case with which this organization gets

PLAN TO SHARPEN PROHIBITION LAW

Treasury Approves Bill For Greater Penalties; Andrews Plans To Tighten Alcohol Traffic.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, February 11.—Two new moves designed to sharpen the teeth of the national prohibition law were taken by the treasury department today.

It was announced that work on the preparation of two new bills, one of which is designed specially to tighten up the enforcement of the national prohibition law, has been virtually approved by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Authorities refused to go into details concerning the new measures which were drawn up after consultation with Andrew J. Volstead, father of the Volstead act, but it has been stated they will provide more severe penalties for evasion of the dry laws, and the postage will be 10 cents an ounce, which will include transportation by train to points beyond terminals.

The distance between the two terminals, Miami and Atlanta, is 664 miles and the postage will be 10 cents an ounce, which will include transportation by train to points beyond terminals.

COOLIDGE ASKED TO MEDIATE ROW, REPORTS DECLARE

Mines To Be in Operation Again Within Ten Days If Agreement Is Signed Today at Philadelphia.

LONGEST STRIKE IN MINING HISTORY

Agreement Based Upon Old Wage Scale—Scale Committee of Miners Is Summoned.

Philadelphia, February 11.—(AP)—All signs tonight pointed to a settlement of the anthracite strike tomorrow.

Unless the unforeseen occurs, it is expected an agreement, subject to ratification by a delegate convention of miners, will be signed by tomorrow night.

Late today leaders of the mine workers summoned the full scale committee to Philadelphia for a meeting in the morning to act on the work of its subcommittee, indicating that President John L. Lewis and his associates have agreed on a proposition to send the miners back to work.

After the scale committee acts, it is planned for the joint committee of miners and operators to meet to formally sign the agreement.

If everything proceeds as tentatively planned tonight, the mines will be in operation within 10 days.

No inkling of the nature of the agreement was permitted to leak out, but it was known to be based on the old wage scale, with some additions. Neither mentioned concessions, but it was apparent some had been made.

President John L. Lewis, of the mine workers, and Major W. W. Inglis, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, were in seclusion all day.

The strike, which began September 1, tomorrow becomes the longest general suspension in the history of the industry. The 1902 strike lasted 164 days and tomorrow will be the 165th day of the present strike.

COOLIDGE TO BE ASKED TO MEDIATE ROW.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., February 11.—(AP)—It was learned here tonight on reliable, but unofficial authority that the plan for settlement of the anthracite strike, under consideration in Philadelphia, substantially is as follows:

First, that President Coolidge be invited to mediate the differences between the miners and operators.

Second, that pending the mediation by the president, the miners shall return to work, or, under certain conditions, remain on suspension until the decision is made known.

Third, that in the event the mediation decision is unsatisfactory, President Coolidge shall be asked to sit as a judge and make a decision on the question at hand.

The decision to be binding on both sides, with the proviso that either side may appeal on questions of fact within ten days.

Edison Covers Wide Range In Talk on 79th Birthday

Fort Myers, Fla., February 11.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison celebrated his 79th birthday today, but told newspapermen who bombarded him with questions that he was really about 120 years old.

"I've been working two shifts most of my life," he explained. "Lots of other men work two shifts, too, but devote one to poker."

Mr. Edison admitted that he is getting seven hours' sleep a day now and intimated that the tale of sleeping only four hours out of every 24 was more or less a myth.

The electrical wizard was in robust health and an amiable mood as he met reporters in the tropical garden of his estate. He readily answered the rapid fire of questions submitted to him, often with a mischievous twinkle in his eye.

There never was a moment's hesitancy in expressing his opinion, no matter on what subject. He was emphatic in his ideas on religion, William Mitchell, the teachings of the late William Jennings Bryan, Henry Ford's old-fashioned dancing fad, Luther Burbank's religious pronouncement, prohibition, jazz music, the possibilities of Florida and the educational standards of the country.

"The first 20 years are the hardest," said the electrical wizard, in speaking of prohibition. He is decidedly in favor of it.

"It's a good thing for the children of today. It will keep them from the habit. It is useless to try to change those who are used to drink-

BOND EXPERTS APPROVE WEST PLAN FOR ISSUE

$2,000,000 Annually for Four Years Available For Improvement Projects If Issue Is Voted.

COMPTROLLER BACK FROM BOSTON TRIP

The $8,000,000 bond issue proposal of R. Graham West, city comptroller, has been given sanction of leading bond experts of America and will be presented to the finance committee of city council at a meeting this morning at 11 o'clock, it became known Thursday afternoon when Mr. West returned from a conference of attorneys at Boston.

Complete and unqualified approval of the plan is contained in the ordinance drawn by lawyers of the bond companies, which, in all probability, will purchase the bonds.

"We furnished them an outline of the proposal, and they drew the ordinance under which the bonds will be authorized," Mr. West said. "This relieves a very acute crisis in the bond issue proposal and makes available $2,000,000 annually for the next four years for civic improvements."

The plan is to date all bonds this year, but to sell them in installments and provide a sinking fund only as they are sold. The $8,000,000 for improvements can thus be voted in the election, and work can be pushed, but the city will not be compelled to provide a sinking fund for those not sold and no tax increase will be necessary.

Building and planning experts have declared that Atlanta can not spend judiciously more than $2,000,000 annually, and this divided among the various improvements planned will keep construction going at top speed, they claim.

The finance committee will accept the plan at the meeting today, it was predicted Thursday night, and will allocate the amounts which will be allowed for different departments.

A tentative allocation made several days ago follows:

Schools, and school equipment, $3,500,000; sewers, $2,500,000; "twinkling," $1,000,000 and city hall, $1,000,000.

10 OR 15 PRIESTS TAKEN IN CUSTODY IN MEXICAN DRIVE

Mexico City, February 11.—(AP)—Newspapers here estimate that 10 or 15 priests have been taken into custody in connection with the movement for the nationalization of all property of the Catholic church in Mexico.

The authorities are silent, and the newspapers are speculating as to whether the priests will be deported. The Mexican constitution requires that priests and ministers of all denominations shall be native-born Mexican citizens, prohibits any political activity by clerics, forbids church ownership of real estate or properties, and declares that all such, including land and church buildings, are the property of the nation.

The present situation arises through the government's apparent intention to enforce the constitution.

36 UNDER ARREST IN BOOTLEG PLOT

Cleveland, February 11.—(AP)—Government operatives late today had arrested 36 persons on conspiracy charges in connection with the alleged nationwide alcohol bootleg plot and the investigation by the federal grand jury here into operations of the Superior Industrial Alcohol company.

Ten of the arrests were made today and more were expected. Three were made in each Minneapolis and Duluth, one each at Chicago and St. Paul and two at Philadelphia. Among them were Leon Glickman, St. Paul, alleged "higher-up," and Abe Ginsberg, Minneapolis attorney.

Meantime, the internal revenue department, claiming that million-dollar tax frauds have been uncovered, took a hand in the investigation, advising treasury agents that special treasury agents will inquire into income tax returns of big bootleggers and corporations upon which suspicious have been cast by the investigation.

Today's developments came as Abe and Ben Gleeman, confessed plotters in an alleged "million-dollar alcohol syndicate" in St. Paul and Minneapolis, went before the grand jury. They were brought here from the Stillwater, Minn., prison, where they are serving a life sentence for a "hi-jack" murder.

The Gleemans were expected to tell of the monthly profits of $20,000 realized by conspirators in the alleged Twin City plot.

Million Dollar Tax Fraud of Conspirators Alleged To Have Been Uncovered by Agents.

Sharp tiffs between attorneys and a near personal encounter featured the second session Thursday night of the special committee of city council appointed to probe charges of "favoritism" against W. P. Price, city purchasing agent. Following testimony for the defense by Mose Holland, for 13 years Fulton county purchasing agent, the meeting was adjourned until 7 o'clock Saturday night. The hearing was held in the council chamber of the city hall.

Charges against Mr. Price were presented in council by J. J. Barnes, city inspector of weights and measures, and an investigation of his position was authorized. Cecil Allen, councilman from the second ward, is chairman of the committee.

Attorneys W. Paul Carpenter and Claude Smith, representing the defense and prosecution, respectively, engaged in several heated discussions regarding the admissibility of evidence.

Mr. Holland was called to the stand and testified that he purchased a certain brand of tires from a local concern, which Mr. Price is alleged to have favored because the latter's son was employed by it, because its prices for several weeks had been from 10

JOHN BOIFEUILLET NAMED BY WALKER ON SERVICE BOARD

Prominent Georgian Is Offered Appointment As Successor to Late Paul B. Trammell.

EXPECT APPOINTEE TO ACCEPT PLACE

Boifeuillet Will Wait Until He Receives Formal Offer Before Announcing Decision.

Appointment of John T. Boifeuillet, former member of the Georgia public service commission, to succeed Paul B. Trammell, of Dalton, who died Wednesday, was announced late Thursday night by Governor Clifford Walker.

Mr. Boifeuillet for many years has been before the public and is one of the most prominent men of the state. He has taken an active part in Georgia politics and has a wide circle of friends.

Expects Acceptance.

Governor Walker indicated that he expected Mr. Boifeuillet to accept the appointment. He stated, however, that he had not yet received a reply.

Mr. Boifeuillet announced from his home Thursday night that he would wait until he received the formal offer before making an announcement.

Mr. Boifeuillet served for nine years as a member of the commission. His term expired last December. In addition to his service with the public service commission, Mr. Boifeuillet served with the American embassy in London, England, for several years during the war.

Will Elect Chairman.

It is understood that the chairmanship of the commission will be filled by vote of members. Walter McDonald is now vice chairman of the commission, succeeding Mr. Boifeuillet when his term expired.

A court fight followed defeat of Mr. Boifeuillet by O. R. Bennett in 1921. The latter claimed that the term expired January 1, 1925, while his opponent claimed the expiration would not be until December, 1925. The fight was started in Fulton superior court and later carried to the supreme court. Mr. Boifeuillet's contentions were upheld through three courts.

If Colonel Boifeuillet accepts the appointment by Governor Walker, it will be the second time he has been appointed to the commission by the governor of Georgia. He was named by Governor Harris in 1916 to succeed Commissioner Joe Gray, who resigned.

Billion-Dollar Bank Merger Is Announced

Chase and Mechanics and Metals, of New York, Now Second.

New York, February 11.—(AP)—The merger of the Chase National Bank and the Mechanics and Metals National bank, with combined resources of $1,000,000,000, was announced tonight by Albert H. Wiggin, president of the Chase National bank.

Mr. Wiggin said the new bank would be second in size among the banking institutions of the country, the National City Bank of New York being first with resources of $1,215,000,000.

The merger was forecast several weeks ago, when it was predicted that the two banks and several others would finally be formed into one gigantic group. At that time it was reported in Wall street that steps were under way to effect the amalgamation of several banks by twos, with later merger among these groups.

BIRMINGHAM LEARNS OF PURCHASE PLANS.

Birmingham, Ala., February 11.—(AP)—Control of the Continental Gin company, the largest manufacturers of cotton gin machinery in the world, is to pass into the hands of Ernest Woodruff and associates of Atlanta, the Trust Company of Georgia, it is learned in financial circles here today.

The negotiations are said to have been under way for some time, and the agreement was made as to the price per share of the stock several days ago.

TIA JUANA POLICE CHIEF IN NUMBER; ALL MAY BE SHOT

Horrible Indignities to American Sisters Who Killed Selves, Stirs Whole West Coast.

ATLANTAN CLUBBED TO HIS DEATH THERE

Father of Girls Left Note, Asking American Government Avenge His Family's Suicide.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

San Diego, Calif., February 11.—Colonel Zenaido Llanos, until last Monday chief of police and suave under-boss of Tia Juana's gawdy "old town," was today pondering his fate in the murky Mexican jail.

Likewise, in nearby cells were six other prisoners, jailed on direct orders of Governor Abelardo Rodriguez of Lower California.

Meanwhile, special agents of the Mexican president and of Governor Rodriguez came across the international line today. They conferred with American federal and California state authorities on the evidence coupling the seven jailed men with the indescribable indignities upon 19-year-old Audrey and 20-year-old Clyde Petet, which last Saturday resulted in the quadruple "shame suicide" of the entire family of Thomas M. Petet, of Missouri.

Tia Juana Is Sacred.

The bars and back rooms of Tia Juana, for the fourth consecutive night, were places of apprehension, not gaiety. The rumbles of the meetings 17 miles away, in American hotel lobbies, barber shops, sailors' chop houses and church vestries reverberated to Tia Juana with talk of "the firing squad," "compulsory passports," and "close them all up."

Four high Mexican officials visited San Diego today, led by Francisco Peralta, inspector of police for all Lower California. In the wake of his visit came stories that two of the men who had stood by and witnessed the outrage to the Petet girls had confessed.

The purported confessions thus related follow the trend of the three pitiful depositions, which came to light today in the dead hands of the two American girls and their father, who led the family council, in which father and mother agreed to die with them.

Seven Are Implicated.

All stories implicate the following seven men, who are described in stories from across the border as trembling in their cells in the dirty gray adobe old town jail:

Zenaido Llanos, chief of police of Tia Juana, now stripped of office.

Louis Amador, proprietor of the Oakland bar in Tia Juana's "old town," today identified by American police as having jumped a $3,500 bond productive enough. Now I am experimenting on a rubber plant that is more productive. I would like to see America produce her own rubber, at least enough to supply our needs in case of war, even if it does cost us more."

He also thought Mr. Ford's idea about reviving the old-fashioned dance would not take with moderns. "I think it's foolish effort, and will not succeed," said Mr. Edison. "People want jazz music these days. Everybody will get up and dance if a fox-trot is playing, but if it's a waltz, they won't get on the floor."

"I prefer good melody myself. The trouble with the tunes of the old-fashioned fiddler is that the music is good only for dancing."

Thinks Dancing Barbarous.

As for himself, the inventor thinks dancing an expression of the barbarian left in man and doesn't indulge, he said.

"If a chimpanzee had a sense of rhythm he would dance himself to death," Mr. Edison laughed.

After he had ventured that Florida was the most delightful place "in the world" to spend one's time, a questioner wanted to know why Mr. Edison did not stay there all the time.

"I wish I could," he answered, "but I have several inventions yet in store. The world is not quite ready for them yet. People have not caught up with those we already have."

He said the radio was being "terribly misused."

Movies in Schools.

The inventor of the moving pictures thought they ought to be used in the right way.

"In the use of the moving picture lies the biggest hope of education," he declared. "The movies should be used to make learning attractive."

Doubt that the general public is as interested in feature stories as the average newspaper editor may think was intimated when Mr. Edison took up the subject of his famous questionnaires for applicants at his electrical works. He said that although he had made three such questionnaires and "some newspapermen stole them and published them," none of his applicants had ever read the questions in the prints.

Books on agriculture and chemistry have the inventor during old hours here. "I am making a study of the possibilities of Florida other than as a winter resort," he explained.

When moving picture men asked him to pose, he gleefully discarded a light topcoat, saying:

"It would never do to be pictured wearing an overcoat in Florida."

EDISON PIONEERS PAY TRIBUTE TO HIM.

New York, February 11.—(AP)—

While Thomas A. Edison was celebrating his 70th birthday at his winter home at Fort Myers, Fla., today, the Edison Pioneers, 100 early associates of the inventor, observed the day with a luncheon at the Hotel Astor.

It was the second consecutive year that Mr. Edison was unable to be the guest of the Pioneers, but he wired greetings to Florida, saying: "Many thanks. Feeling fine. Weather beautiful. Coconut dropped all over my place. Wish you all were here."

Charles L. Clarke, retiring president of the organization, and William H. Meadowcroft, Mr. Edison's confidential secretary, stood for years paid tribute to the electrical wizard. Mr. Clarke said that Mr. Edison was just as alert, both physically and mentally, today as when the editor of the Pioneers first met him at Menlo Park, N. J., many years ago.

CITY MAY APPEAL ADVERSE DECISION

he opposed the zoning ordinance when it passed city council, he stated at the time that he doubted whether the law was constitutional or could be sustained in the courts. Judge E. C. Kentz vigorously opposed the measure, and predicted it would be set aside by the courts.

R. W. Thomas, engineer of the city planning commission, said that the case should be taken to the United States supreme court and said the highest tribunal already had sustained the city of New York in similar right to pass and enforce a zoning law.

The supreme court decision, which reversed the finding of Judge Ellis, of the superior court, held that the zoning ordinance was, in effect, an exercise of police power of the city, and while private property must be held subordinate to police regulations, full property cannot be destroyed or confiscated under the mere guise of police regulations. It was held that "to destroy the right to enjoy and dispose of property is to a certain extent to destroy the property."

Mrs. Smith, owner of the property involved, first petitioned the planning commission to change her property from a residential to a retail store zone, and the commission voted to do so. However, the ordinance committee of council, declined to concur in this action, and Mrs. Smith, on advice of attorneys, then started work on excavating for stores she planned to erect.

The city made cases against workmen employed on the job and Mrs. Smith then petitioned for an injunction to enjoin the city from interfering with the work.

Judge Ellis declined the injunction but in doing so expressed his own doubt as to the constitutionality of the ordinance and took a course which assured submission of the question to the supreme court for decision.

The supreme court decision is based upon the constitutionality of the act of the legislature authorizing enactment of the city zoning ordinance, pointing out that if one is unconstitutional it follows that the other is likewise.

The clause declared unconstitutional, it is said, is contrary to the due process clauses of the state and federal constitutions.

Mrs. Smith was represented by Attorneys Spence and Spence, while City Attorney James L. Mayson and Judge J. M. Wood, former city attorney, represented the city.

Spence and Spence Thursday acknowledged help received in the case from J. Walter Mason who, as amicus curiae, filed a brief in the case.

Other Decisions Cited.

The supreme court, in its lengthy opinion in the case, cited many other cases, chiefly in Texas and Georgia, and expressed its thanks to attorneys for both sides who had cited numerous cases in support of positions in the exhaustive briefs submitted.

George S. Spence, one of Mrs. Smith's attorneys, in commenting on the decision said that in effect it involved the title to hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of property in Atlanta. The ordinance now declared void, he said, amounted to depriving Mrs. Smith of the use of $100,000 worth of her own property for which she had paid.

"It is undoubtedly true," said Mr. Spence, "that a law framed for the purpose of promoting a regular systematic growth of the city would have many virtues, but no such law will ever be passed which will be constitutional unless it provides that persons who are deprived of the use of their property for the public good be paid by the public when their property is taken from them."

Francisco Gonzales, Tia Juana policeman.

Refugio Alvarez, San Diego hotel-keeper, Tia Juana.

Francisco Navarro, bartender at Amador's saloon.

Juan Saenz, Mexican-Chinese manager of Hotel Nacional in "old town," Salvador Espinosa, taxi driver, who misdirected the search for the two abducted American girls.

May Shoot All Seven.

Governor Rodriguez will be in Tia Juana tomorrow to question the seven men accused of participating in the outrages.

If confessions are secured, it was stated by Mexican representatives who visited the American side this afternoon, the fate of the men will be summary execution by shooting. The Mexican officials said rape is a death offense in Lower California, under certain conditions.

In addition to the Lower California province officials who visited this city, Plutarco Calles, deputy governor of Mexico, is pursuing investigations for President Calles.

Captain J. M. Adamson, known as an American army officer to whom Thomas M. Peterson, his last surviving, gave detailed deposition of the horrors undergone by Peter's daughters, in Tia Juana today was declared to be an investigator into a number of alleged brutalities upon American citizens in Tia Juana.

Atlantan Clubbed to Death.

Captain Adamson in particular has been collecting evidence, it was said, into the death of T. N. George, business man of Atlanta, Ga., who died after a clubbing in the Tia Juana jail.

While investigating the George death, Adamson said, he became acquainted with Peter. The other day, the detective said, he received a letter signed by Peter, which told in some detail of the attack in Tia Juana on his two daughters, and said:

"I am sorry, but myself and family are of the best southern blood. Death was always preferred to dishonor to our women. We are wiping it out tonight. Push this case and, if you can, have the government avenge our wrongs. We will appreciate it where we go, maybe."

Other local agencies today redoubled efforts to secure American government inquiry as to the condition of Chief Petty Officer Elmo Gordon U. S. S. Gannett, declared to be losing his mind in the Tia Juana jail after seven months imprisonment on a two-year sentence.

Girl Retracted Charges.

Gordon, according to a statement on his case made public only last week, was jailed on charges submitted by a girl barroom entertainer. Today it was stated that the girl entertainer, before leaving Tia Juana, some time ago retracted her charges. Other alleged occurrences printed in newspapers today for possible investigation were those of:

An American woman alleged to have been beaten by four Mexican soldiers two weeks ago.

The experience of a Los Angeles woman of capture of the U. S. S. Idaho, whose automobile was misdirected, it was related here today, by a Mexican policeman, on its running board, to the "old man" to the rostrum, but when Carpenter's question was not allowed he resumed his seat.

Girls Horribly Treated

Briefly, the story is that the Petet family went to Tia Juana, partly on business and partly on pleasure. Petet had been employed by a slot machine concern. The two girls were said to have been lured away, plied with drinks, drugged, abducted and taken in an atrocious manner at a hotel. They escaped and complained to the American immigration authorities.

The father, hearing their stories, is supposed to have called the entire family into the kitchen of their home here and turned on the gas. Petet, his wife and Andrew, the older of the two girls, were killed. The younger, about 19, was found unconscious in the room. This was last Saturday. She died two days later without regaining consciousness.

ASK TIA JUANA BIDGE BE CLOSED.

Los Angeles, February 11.—Incensed at the alleged inactivity of U. S. Senator Samuel Hordridge with respect to vice conditions at the border, the Los Angeles W. C. T. U. has petitioned President Coolidge to close the international bridge leading to Tia Juana.

Shortridge, according to the union, has repeatedly opposed closing the bridge.

BILLION-DOLLAR BANK MERGER ANNOUNCED

and Mechanics and Metals National was announced after several weeks of conference between the officers and directors of the two banks.

The Chase National bank, in its last public statement, revealed total resources of $838,050,230. The Mechanics and Metals National bank has total resources of $298,761,214.

The Chase National is 48 years old, and the Mechanics and Metals National was established 115 years ago.

The merger began as the first bankers' bank in the country, its original directorate in 1810 being chosen chiefly from members of the Central Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen.

Mr. Wiggins will be chairman of the board of directors of the consolidated bank, which will be known as the Chase National Bank of the City of New York. John McHugh, president of the Mechanics and Metals National bank, will be president of the new institution.

Gates W. McGarrath, member of the board of the German reichsbank, being the American director named in accordance with the Dawes plan, will be chairman of the executive committee of the combination.

CHICAGO APPEALS FOR NATIONAL AID

gunmen into this country the administration will have a scandal of the first degree on its hands.

Secretary Davis was deeply impressed with the serious conditions obtaining when he was informed that 200 Chicago citizens, when called for jury duty, had refused to qualify when they found out they were called upon to determine the guilt or innocence of the two Sicilians, Scialli and Anselmi, charged with the murder of a policeman in San Gennaro, indicted for killing an Italian of a rival gang.

These talesters feared they would be assassinated if they should find any of the Sicilian gangsters guilty.

Two Ways To Get It.

"There are two ways in which professional killers can get into this country," said Secretary Davis. "They can get in if they completely deceive the American consuls abroad who pass on their applications to come and the immigration inspectors who examine them at the port of entry. We have tightened up the system now so that it is pretty difficult for a criminal to get in regularly at a port of entry. The other way is to sneak in at some unguarded spot on the border. This is easier to do, though not so easy now, for the additional funds allowed by congress are now able to do a better job of police control at the border."

The deportation of alien criminals has grown to such a volume that a large part of the work of the immigration commissioner's offices at Atlanta, Ga., and Kansas City, Mo., is the deportation of aliens upon their release from the federal penitentiaries at Atlanta and Leavenworth, Kansas.

Throughout the country, but particularly in states like Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania, with large foreign populations, much of the work of immigration commissioners is the deportation of alien criminals upon release from state penitentiaries.

TILTS OF LAWYERS ENLIVEN MEETING to 11 per cent lower from those of other standard tire sales firms.

"I am happy to state that I do not operate under a committee," Mr. Holland declared. "I buy on my own initiative, and therefore am able to make my own decisions."

When the session opened, Mr. Barnes through his attorneys attempted to amend the petition to include other alleged illegal transactions of the city purchasing department after debate the defense won its point, and the paper was not admitted. Mr. Carpenter contended that the committee is not authorized to go beyond the original petition which called for an order of prohibition.

This brought statements by members that the committee had the right to investigate the department and any of its actions. Counselman W. E. Saunders, of the 12th ward, led in this contention, but Counselman Ellis B. Barrett, of the fifth, who occupies the post of legal adviser of the committee, ruled with Mr. Carpenter.

Witnesses called by the prosecution in an attempt to fix the blame on Mr. Price for purchase of certain commodities, and to substantiate charges of infringement of rules under which the city purchasing department operates included the following:

Bruce Baxter, superintendent of the city garage; D. B. Donaldson, of a local tire concern; Hoke Gewinner, former employee of the same concern with which Mr. Price's son is now connected; L. Neal Smith, J. G. Brown, J. F. Robinson, Jr., and P. L. Carroll, of tire sales firms; and C. F. Elsner, chief engineer of Grady hospital.

All these testified that they were not in the city's business, and that in the majority of cases they never sold the city any supplies. Mr. Carroll declared that when he offered Mr. Price tires at a very low price the purchasing agent declared "You should get more for your stuff."

On cross-examination he admitted that he got the order and also some other orders from the city.

Mr. Elsner was called in an effort to ascertain if bids were received for coal used at Grady hospital. He declared he could not answer that question and when the defense asked him if more than one concern handled the kind of coal Grady uses, he said he did not know.

A near personal encounter occurred when Mr. Carpenter intimated by questions that tires sold by Mr. Donaldson were "not up to standard."

"Donaldson rushed from his seat to the rostrum, but when Carpenter's question was not allowed he resumed his seat.

Other members of the committee, in addition to Mr. Allen, Mr. Saunders and Mr. Barrett, are Aldermen C. M. Ford and Dr. P. L. Moon, of the tenth and second wards, respectively, and Councilmen Horace Russell and B. T. Hulet, of the ninth and third wards, respectively.

NAILS IN PLANKS TO STOP SPEEDERS IN ATHENS, GREECE

(By Leased Wire To The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Athens, February 11.—A novel system of halting automobile speed fiends in Athens is being introduced by the city police. Speeders have been more active than usual recently, resulting in danger to the population and damage to the traffic cops.

Commencing next Monday, the police on traffic duty will be furnished with long wooden planks studded with nails, which they are authorized to throw in front of autos exceeding the speed limit. The effect will be to puncture the tires, obliging the cars to stop. Public opinion is said to approve of the novel measure.

TWO MEN ARE HELD PRISONERS BY COW IN WELL BOTTOM

(By Leased Wire To The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Minone, Wis., February 11.—A slight variation of the "horse on us" idiom was suffered by Joseph Hogue and Joseph Dahmar, while they were working at the bottom of a 25-foot well.

A cow roaming the farm field atop the two men, holding them prisoners for two hours until rescuers removed the cow with a block and tackle. Total casualties: Dahmar, one broken arm; cow, broken neck.

signed, to hold the post until the succeeding regular election. This came in 1918 when Colonel Boifeuille was elected to serve the unexpired term and for the full term of six years.

He ended his service last December, after he had been defeated for reelection.

Mr. Trammell's term will expire December 1, 1927. Under the law, Colonel Boifeuille may serve until the next election, when he will have to stand for election to serve the remainder of the term. If there is no regular election between now and December 1, 1927, he naturally will continue to fill the post until Mr. Trammell's term expires.

ATLANTANS BUY GREAT GIN FIRM

posed deal. In the absence of T. K. Glenn, president of the Trust Company of Georgia, Mr. Woodruff said no information could be given out at this time.

Approximately $8,000,000 is involved in the deal, which is the largest transaction of its kind ever negotiated in the south. The company manufactures about one-half of all the cotton gins sold and has plants at Atlanta, Birmingham, Dallas, Memphis, Prattville, Ala., and Bridgeport, Mass.

Owned by Southerners.

For more than thirty years the Continental Gin company has been operated by a foreign company formed through a consolidation of the Munger, Smith, Pratt and Winslow interests. The Winslow interests are held largely by a Georgia family. The Munger interests are held by the Munger family of Birmingham and Dallas while the Pratt and Smith interests are held by those families living in Alabama. L. R. Munger, Dallas, is president of the company; Daniel Pratt, vice president; Arthur W. Smith, treasurer, and N. W. Proctor, secretary.

It is said that an agreement has been reached on the price to be paid for the stock of the company and it is understood also that the majority of the stock necessary to acquire control has been assembled and will be delivered to the Trust Company of Georgia interests when an option is exercised, which will be in about four weeks.

The deal will mean much for the industrial expansion of the Atlanta district, according to information obtained Thursday, although no details of expansion plans are available for publication.

THOMASVILLE GETS EXPERT FOR PECANS

The special business of this office is to examine the diseases attacking the pecan fruit to this territory and see that they are given the necessary treatment for exterminating them. He must also be an expert on all sorts of insects and bugs that might be injurious to the trees.

EMPHASIZE NEED TO CONSERVE OIL

Washington, February 11.—(AP)—The necessity of some plan for conserving the nation's petroleum supplies was emphasized at the final session today of the public hearings on the oil industry by the federal oil conservation board.

Opinions differed as to how this was to be best effected, but there was substantial agreement on the necessity for action. Petroleum supplies in sight were said to be rapidly dwindling, and it was asserted that only discoveries of new fields or improved methods of recovery could avert shortage.

Mark Requa, of San Francisco, said: "We have known for a long time of the United States sufficient to last about eight years if consumption does not increase, and if we could get it all out in that time. Consumption will increase and we cannot get it out in eight years, so new discoveries are imperative."

"Half of our oil production is burned as fuel," said Mr. Requa. "That is too much. I do not attempt to set the limit that should be the deadline, but I do say the burning of perhaps 75,000,000 barrels of gasoline, 50,000,000 or 60,000,000 barrels of Diesel engine oil, and 20,000,000 million barrels of lubricating oil as fuel is without justification, save on the ground that cooperative action to control production is not permissible."

Mr. Requa said that the non-partisan republicans state convention today nominated Gerald P. Nye as a candidate for the United States senate.

Congressman James Sinclair was renominated as a candidate to succeed himself from the third district.

The vote on Nye followed a bitter contest waged against him by farmer-laborite leaders, who previously had tried to swing the non-partisan league out of the republican party and establish a third party.

When it became apparent, however, that Nye would receive an overwhelming vote, they joined in making the selection unanimous.

League leaders were confident tonight that the league will present a united front at the June primary and November elections.

Nye will be a candidate for both the long and short term, since he was appointed to serve only until a successor was elected at the June primary.

MUSKOGEE RALLIES TO NATIONAL BANK MENACED BY RUN

Muskogee, Okla., February 11.—(AP)

Muskogee business and professional men, rallying to the Commercial National bank, menaced by a run of ugly proportions yesterday, poured more than $50,000 in cash into the institution through the tellers' windows in individual deposits today.

The day that some feared might be one of tragedy was a day of triumph and ovations.

Before the bank had been open an hour $100,000 had passed into the vaults through the tellers' windows. The final check at closing hours showed $350,122.70. Deposits from other banks will greatly swell this figure.

Withdrawals today amounted to less than $25,000, not a normal day's business.

LEW AND FOUNTAIN TO SPEAK TONIGHT

FOUR ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McEnery, of 571 Virginia avenue, were slightly injured late Thursday night when struck by a light coupe almost in front of their home. Call Officers George R. Lee and J. E. McDaniel were told the driver of the machine did not stop at the time of the accident, but was stopped farther down the street by citizens.

McEnery told call officers the driver could not talk intelligently and appeared to be drunk. He furnished police with the license number of the machine and asked that a case be made. Mr. and Mrs. McEnery were carried home and given treatment by a family physician.

H. H. Koch and A. E. Newman, of 62 Crew street, and N. C. McHugh, of 694 South Moreland avenue, were shaken up when their automobiles collided at Peachtree and Ivy streets. Patrolman T. D. Albright, who investigated, made a case of reckless driving against both McHugh and Koch. None of the three was hurt badly enough to be carried to a hospital.

TWO NEW GAS RATE SCHEDULES ASKED

Authority to inaugurate two additional gas rate schedules is sought in a petition filed Thursday before the Georgia public service commission by the Georgia Railway and Power company. Services affected are those extended to industrial and water heater consumers and apply to all territory served by the company.

The industrial gas rate sought, which is optional to the customer, calls for a customer charge of $3 a month per customer, plus a demand charge of 70 cents per 100 cubic feet of gas used.

The water heating rate, available for water heating only between May 1 and November 1, of each year, calls for a customer charge of $3 a month, plus a commodity charge of $1 for each 1,000 cubic feet, with a provision for guaranteed monthly consumption of 15,000 cubic feet and a minimum monthly charge of $18 a customer.

Georgia To Honor Both Oglethorpe, Lincoln Today

Two great figures in history will be honored in Georgia today—Abraham Lincoln, president of the United States during the war between the states and General James Oglethorpe, founder of the original colony of Georgia in 1732. February 12 was set aside as Georgia day by the legislature in a resolution passed several years ago. Lincoln's birthday anniversary also falls on the same date and is observed as a legal holiday throughout the country.

Georgia day will be celebrated in the schools of the state with fitting ceremonies, which will include historical readings covering the early colonial history of the state.

Lincoln's birthday anniversary in Atlanta will be observed by several organizations with special programs, which will include readings from speeches and state papers of the former president.

OPERA LECTURERS VISIT COLLEGES

A series of lectures on the operas to be presented in Atlanta by the Metropolitan Opera company the week of April 19 are being given at various Georgia colleges, it was announced Thursday.

The lectures were made possible through the cooperation of the Atlanta Music Festival association and the Federation of Music Clubs of Georgia. Mrs. L. W. Watson, special representative of music association and Miss Ruth Gaines, chairman of the extension bureau of the federation, are giving the lectures, the first being presented Tuesday to the students of Breun College, Gainesville.

They were repeated Thursday at Bessie Telf college and tonight the student bodies of Wesleyan and Mercer will hear them. Next week other institutions of higher education will be visited.

The response to the call for guarantors to the $125,000 fund for the 1926 season followed promptly the announcement, the list was open and Thursday night $22,000 had been pledged. Privileges of first choice of seats extended to guarantors makes the membership of much value. The smallest amount a person may underwrite is $200, but with the popularity of this year's operas, experience of previous years and the reign of prosperity in the south, it is not likely guarantors will be called upon.

STATE PRESS MEN WILL BE GUESTS OF CITY CHAMBER

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will be host at a luncheon Saturday to members of the Georgia Press association, it was announced Thursday by B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the chamber.

The press association holds its mid-winter meeting here on that day. Ernest Camp, of Monroe, president of the association, will be a speaker and W. D. Hoffman, president of the chamber, will make the address of welcome.

The newspapermen will discuss plans for a trip to Florida and Cuba in April.

Other plans of the chamber include a banquet February 25 in honor of John W. O'Leary, president of the United States, and David A. Skinner, secretary of the national association.

Several hundred business men of Asheville, N. C., will stop over in Atlanta March 12, as guests of the chamber, while on a tour extending as far as the Pacific coast to boost "The Land of the Sky."

STARVE DEMAND FOR CRIME DETAILS DONEHOOSAYS

"Heroizing of criminals in motion pictures, and by the press should be stopped," Paul Donehoos, coronor of Fulton county, told members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon Thursday. He insisted that something must be done to curb the crime wave which is sweeping the entire country. The cause, in his opinion, is not in lack of proper training or environment as much as in the general attitude of the public who demand and relish sensational crime stories.

The date for the hearing was set by the judge after it became known that Sig. Teitelbaum, court reporter, had completed the transcription of the record of the first trial and given it to the court.

Gore was sentenced to be electrocuted at the state farm in Milledgeville on March 24.

ACTION OF COUNCIL COMMITTEE SAVES HOME OF OLD NEGRO

Joseph J. James, aged negro of 54 Old Wheat street, and his wife now will be able to pay for their home, it became known Thursday following a meeting of the waterworks committee of city council. The councilmanic body made this possible, the negro said, when it voted to allow him to pay a $622 water bill with $5.

The negro appeared before the committee and declared that the water pipes in his house burst recently in a hard freeze while he and other members of the family were away and that a large quantity of water—enough to run his monthly statement up to $62—was wasted.

He declared that if he was forced to pay the entire amount he and his wife would lose their home.

Other routine business was transacted by the committee. One provision was for the extension of the six-inch water main on Melrose and Milledge avenues to supply water to the new Sylvan Hills school. This is a distance of about 500 feet and will cost about $700.

ERWIN SAYS ASSEMBLY SHOULD 'GET TOGETHER'

It is entirely possible for the general assembly to "get together" on constructive legislation for the benefit of the state, if all the members will approach the matters to be considered at the special session with open minds, free from personal animosities, political aspirations or destructive political influences, in the opinion of Andrew Erwin, former mayor of Athens, who has recently been elected one of the Clarke county representatives.

Mr. Erwin has been in Atlanta this week studying the financial conditions of the state and conferring with state officials, in order, he said, to be in position to vote intelligently on measures that might be presented when the legislature convenes.

HEARING ON NEW TRIAL FOR GORE SATURDAY

Hearing on the motion for a new trial for Mel M. Gore, convicted of murder in connection with the slaying of William H. Cheek, Peachtree road grocer, on December 19, was set for Saturday before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court Thursday.

The date for the hearing was set by the judge after it became known that Sig. Teitelbaum, court reporter, had completed the transcription of the record of the first trial and given it to the court.

Gore was sentenced to be electrocuted at the state farm in Milledgeville on March 24.

T. W. DENNINGTON ASKS DAMAGES OF $25,000

Suit for $25,000 damages was filed Thursday in the city court of Atlanta against Armour and company and Luther King, negro, employee, by T. W. Dennington. He claims he was injured when he was struck by a truck driven by King.

More than a score of Atlanta storekeepers charged with maintaining a lottery in connection with the operation of slot machines in their establishments have entered pleas during the past few days, according to attorneys in the office of Solicitor General John A. Boykin.

The cases against those entering pleas have been settled and not pressed upon the payment of $42.50 costs. Approximately 200 cases against Atlanta storekeepers have been placed on the calendar for February 16 and 17. It is believed, however, that many of those indicted in connection with the slot machine war will enter pleas before their cases are called.

MAKING IT A SURPLUS.

The United States department of agriculture issues a most heartening bulletin as to farm conditions in general. It declares that farmers generally "are in a better condition than at any time since 1920."

By the same token it advises strongly and vigorously against any expansion in production in 1926, and declares such a program "will tend to place farmers in a less favorable economic position than at present."

The department predicted that a cotton crop as large as that of last year would sell for lower prices, because world production has exceeded the rate of world consumption the last two seasons and stocks have increased. It said:

"Costs of cotton production will probably be about the same as in 1925, and growers would do well to proceed with care when planning their acreage for the present year. Although stocks are not yet burdensome as a whole, further increases might easily make them so. The conditions under which the new crop will be marketed are somewhat uncertain, but there is no marked indication that the mill demand will exceed that of the present season."

From every authoritative source comes the warning that unless cotton production is held down in 1926 the farmers will suffer—and suffer most acutely.

There is no disputing the wisdom of these warnings. County agents and credit heads and all interests in a community that have the best interests of the farmers and the respective communities at heart, ought to begin now toward this end.

It is more than important. It is imperative.

Let the slogan be "more cotton to the acre and less acres to cotton."

Let the surplus acreage go into food and feed crops and into other than cotton money crops.

Let cotton be a surplus! That's the sensible thing.

MILK FOR FLORIDA.

Samuel C. Dobbs, prominent Atlanta financier who takes a keen interest in all progressive matters looking to the interests of the people—and particularly in matters of conservation, including that of manpower—has received the following letter from Irvin Paschall, a well-known Chicago advertising expert, who is now in Florida:

"Please note the attached letter on the milk situation in Florida. I know you had a great interest in inducing better hog raising in Georgia. I wonder if there is a way in which you could profitably induce Georgia farmers to supply more milk for Florida babies. They sure need it."

There is one line in the letter that is worthy of thought and action, especially on the part of the dairymen in south Georgia. "I wonder," writes Mr. Paschall, "if there is a way in which you could profitably induce Georgia farmers to supply more milk for Florida babies—they sure need it." Mr. Dobbs, in writing The Constitution, says:

"But the problem is altogether beyond me. It does look like this situation offers an opportunity for some of our south Georgia farmers. It certainly affords a magnificent vindication of the fight that Georgia has been making against the cattle tick."

He is right. It is first of all an opportunity for south Georgia farmers who have large and small herds of cows to find a profitable market for their milk. It provides them with a ready cash outlet to meet the demands. Most of those who have herds now are under cream contracts with the nearby creameries. It illustrates how this most profitable industry can be developed, and how soundly is the program, put in tangible action by the Georgia association, to have a small herd of pure-bred, tick-free cows on every farm, along with hogs and chickens. Second, it illustrates, as Mr. Dobbs suggests, the wisdom of the Georgia fight against the cattle tick.

Florida's trouble today is that she has not eradicated the tick. The state is making progress, but it is understood that there is only one county in the state entirely free from the tick.

With a condition such as Florida found herself facing almost overnight comes an emphatic illustration of what her past indifference to tick eradication is now costing.

The county agents, units of the Georgia association, community and civic clubs in south Georgia could take this matter up very profitably. The farmers in every community should "balance" their 1926 operations according to their community circumstances—less cotton, more food and feed, some fruit, some money crop other than cotton, and the "corn, hog, hen program."

This appeal from Florida should be acted upon. Not simply read with interest and then forgotten about.

THE PAROLE ABUSE.

Judge J. B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, struck the nail on the head as to the abuse of the pardon and parole power when he said:

"I believe there are men who should be pardoned or paroled. But that privilege has been fearfully abused, and we see criticisms in the papers about the pardoning power of the governor and prison commission. The governor and prison commission are not to blame for this. No men with the power that they have are going to use it without some good reason to pardon a man convicted by a court."

"But when officers of courts, county officers, the court itself, the solicitor general and other good people that are known to the governor and the prison commission sign petitions, write letters and go in person and see them for pardons and paroles, they are human, and do what you and I would do under those circumstances."

"Understand me, there are cases in which men should be pardoned and paroled, but taking this circuit as a criterion, I will say that 90 per cent of the white men convicted stand before me for pardons and paroles. The criminal element knows how to present all the persuasive arguments to the pardoning power, all the influence necessary to secure pardons or paroles, and we should not criticize the pardoning power until we stop signing petitions and trying to get men pardoned or paroled who are in the penitentiary."

Of course the prison commission's functions are to examine the records and the pleas and to recommend without regard to sentiment. The governor is not supposed to be influenced by sentiment, or by the wishes of political and personal friends. But—as Judge Hutcheson relates—when the trial judge, and the solicitor, and some of the convicting jury, and so on, appeal for parole or pardon, what is the prison commission to think? What is the governor to think? These people heard the testimony. They should know all of the extenuating circumstances. And their pleas must be weighed in the balance of understanding requests. And yet we all know many of these big-hearted men are guided entirely by sentiment—too often shrewdly aroused by men who make it a business—no doubt for consideration—to systematically work up these petitions, affidavits and the like.

Is it, or is it not true, that a man supposedly close to the administration, who mingles in politics, secret societies, and sometimes in salesmanship, has, within the past few months, given a great deal of time to working up parole and pardon petitions?

There is in vogue in Georgia and in other states a vicious system of trying to defeat justice through the very methods complained of by Judge Hutcheson. We heartily endorse his views.

ATLANTAN HONORED.

In the election of officers of the American Ceramic society for 1926 one of Atlanta's most prominent business men, and a leader in the development of clay-product manufacturing, was most worthily honored.

In the election of B. Mifflin Hood, president of the Hood Brick company, to the vice presidency of that great national association, recognition was given to a man who has done as much, or more, toward carrying the fame of Georgia's clay deposits to the four corners of the world as any other man.

With rare business ability, a faith in the state, and a spirit of progressiveness, Mr. Hood has won marked success in his own business, and with the unselfish spirit of a real captain of industry, who loves Georgia, he has given liberally of his time and talents in carrying Georgia's ceramic opportunities generally to interested parties throughout the country. He took active part in the movement for a ceramic department at the Georgia School of Technology.

Aside from his ceramic obsessions, he takes time to help in every other worthwhile undertaking for Georgia. He is a leader in various coordinated movements for the state's agricultural and industrial welfare—for better roads, better schools, a more happy and contented people.

We congratulate the Ceramic Society of America in the selection for one of its official staff of this splendid Atlantian.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Mourning for Lenin.

For the occasion of the anniversary of Lenin's death, Moscow was draped with red flags with black borders. In the evening the Moscow soviet held a solemn session and a memorial service was held in the Great theater. Here the decorations were black muslin. The theater was crammed with people. When the curtain with half-Cubist picture of the revolution went up, the actors on the stage were disclosed on scarlet benches with black canopies overhead. At 6:55, the moment of Lenin's death, the whole audience stood while the orchestra played the funeral march and a magic lantern threw a picture of Lenin on the loose curtain at the back of the stage. The speaker was Anatole Lunacharsky. During the singing of the "Internationale," the stage was transformed showing a brilliantly illuminated hammer and sickle on a background of prismatic sunrise. Next a film was shown with pictures of Lenin's appearances in public squares to the accompaniment of Wagner's "Siegfried." All day crowds passed by the glassed-in coffin in the Red Square mausoleum. During the night a solitary lamp burned high above the square and immediately beneath floated a red flag at half mast.

This reminds me I've never yet met a veterinarian in New York, nor have I seen a squirrel-skin coat. With those two exceptions they have pretty near everything here.

The story is told of a theatrical producer, who was pestered day in, day out by a seedy-looking individual, who insisted on seeing him. Finally the man was given an audience with the stage manager.

"I have an act that'll be a wow," he said.

"What is it?"

"Well, I have a cow and a sheep and I'll walk out on the stage with them."

"Well, what will they do?"

"Do? What do you mean, do?"

"I mean what kind of a stunt will they pull off. What have you trained them in?"

"They won't do nothing. These people here have never seen either a cow or a sheep. It'll be a revelation to them."

"You're crazy. They must do something, else the thing will be the most ridiculous flop of the century."

"Well, I might get the sheep to bleat and the cow to moo, that'll make the audience howl. You'll see."

Took the train the other day for New Haven, the coach was crowded. Fell in with an old fellow ring-barked, clay-pipe, brass-buckled suspenders 'n' everything. His conversation was so naive and yet so charming that it's worth reporting.

"Where yeh traveling to, dad?"

"I'm going 'out Stamford way."

"Live out there?"

"Nope, but got a boy out there. He's a dry goods man."

"Going for a visit then, I take it?"

"Well, you might call it that. It won't be long. I ain't much longer for down here."

"Why d'ye say that? You look healthy and spry."

"Well, I ain't been the same since mother passed away."

"That's sad, father. But that's the way of life, isn't it?"

"I guess yeh're right, boy. I ain't grumbling neither. Reckon the Lord knows what he's doing. Reckon He gets shy of angels sometimes up there and so he sent for mother."

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

New York, February 11.—Evidence of a split in the linguistic unity of this great republic as contained in an advertisement spotted in the personal column of a great Gotham newspaper: "Native New York dialect and Brooklyn slang taught in 30 lessons."

Indications of rural animalism might be deduced from the "announcement" of a suburban Flushing roadhouse: "Chicken a la King, style, Jim O'Donnell, garage, parcel checking plane. Gasoline station and veterinary in attendance." That must be the place where they eat like wolves—or hogs.

That reminds me I've never yet met a veterinarian in New York, nor have I seen a squirrel-skin coat. With those two exceptions they have pretty near everything here.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

ARTERY FAILURE.

To a practical purposes we have only two diseases of the arteries: the atherosclerosis and the arteriosclerosis. The atherosclerosis is a disease of the arteries in which the arteries are hardened and the blood flow is obstructed. The arteriosclerosis is a disease of the arteries in which the arteries are narrowed and the blood flow is obstructed.

Right here let me interject a morbid note, straight from the clinic. When an adult complains of a loss of weight despite good appetite, the doctor immediately thinks of three things: Graves' disease, diabetes and arteriosclerosis. He does not think of tapeworm, because persons who are generally well nourished or too well nourished are not likely to be infested with tapeworm.

Not to grow too morbid, but simply to impress upon the Wisenheimer who has a heart attack, the importance of the term "indigestion." I would cite this not unusual case from the clinic. A man aged 60 years began to complain of indigestion, occasional vomiting of bile, and a feeling of fullness in the stomach. He was accompanied by a physician, who was called in to see him. The patient was carried off by an intercurrent attack of pneumonia, such as may beget the healthiest of us, and the necropsy disclosed too many arteriosclerotic changes to be mentioned here.

When a man's arteries begin to get stiff, his heart has to grow larger and stronger to maintain the circulation. Impairment or loss of the normal elasticity of the arteries means a failure of the arteries to do their work in sending the blood to the organs.

If you happen to belong in the Wisenheimer family please do not be wroth with me. I don't blame you because you are not wroth with me in medical matters; I merely take this means of reminding you that your family is badly affected with Billings complaint—you know the many things about sickness and health which ain't so.

The "indigestion," "colic," or "cramps" of the clinic patients were due to vascular crises, that is, temporary spasm of some of the arteries supplying the stomach and liver.

Another manifestation of this kind is seen in mature adults with arteriosclerosis; it is called intermittent claudication or lameness. Patients develop cramps or pains in the legs after walking, and the pains pass off after a short rest. Occasionally this intermittent claudication manifests itself in one or both arms instead of the legs. Intermittent claudication is frequently seen in persons whose arteries are damaged by over-indulgence in tobacco. Many sufferers from such attacks assume they have "indigestion" and take medicine, and not the usual or common manifestations of the disease.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

All the New Wrinkles.

I have suffered from bronchitis for 10 years, also am nervous. Question: Would you advise treatment with the "L. M. G.?"

Answer:—This is not Sarcastic, but I'll just say I should advise you to refer the matter of treatment to your doctor's judgment.

Die Happy.

Before retiring I take a light lunch such as some cake and a cup of two coffee. Have been told this habit is bad for the health. Kindly advise (L. M. G.).

Answer:—Maybe Ben thinks you are not a profitable boarder. Assuming you are an adult, the lunch is bad for the health, but rather milk or soup or some other wholesome beverage.

Uncle in Basement.

I have an uncle who insists on sleeping in the basement in front of the furnace, where the temperature is about 100 degrees. He says, "Do you think it is all right? The basement has cement floor and walls." (L. M. G.).

Answer:—Yes, but it would be better for "Uncle" to open a window in the basement when he retires for fresh air acts as a safety precaution against the escape of carbon monoxide from the furnace fire in the basement. Then, too, it is probably worse than the desert of Sahara down there, the air, I mean, so "Uncle" should have plenty of water in the water pots and the basement floor sprinkled down before he turns in. Of course, this is not so important as the matter of water in the water pots and the basement floor sprinkled down before he turns in.

Woods Full of Innocents Yet.

Kindly answer if a reducing remedy as claimed (L. R.).

Answer:—It isn't, but I am going to answer nevertheless. I mean that a reducing remedy is not so harmless as your own home-made bread or your own baked bread and it will reduce just as much as that.

A year ago you gave a fine corn cure (R. F. C.).

Answer:—Paint the corn once a day for a week or two with a solution of 30 per cent of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion, and give your foot or your foot a good rub with the salicylic acid.

Susie Sutton's Big "Follow Me" Company 81 Midnight Frolic

An innovation in musical comedies is promised tonight at the big midnight frolic program at Eighty-one theater for whites only, when an overture contest featuring two celebrated negro musicians will precede a program jammed with the best in comedy and dancing acts by Susie Sutton and her "Follow Me" company.

Advance seat sales have been tremendously heavy, according to Manager Charles T. Bailey, and only a limited number of good seats may now be secured for this week's spectacular midnight affair for white patrons.

Eddie Hayward, eighty-one theater pianist and noted talking-machine record maker, and Graham Jackson, who officiates over the theater's magnificent pipe organ, will play one selection each. The winner will be decided by the applause of the audience.

As these musical echoes die away the curtain will rise on an array of stars in negro entertaining circles, led by the inimitable Susie Sutton, singing comedienne. Other high spots in the show are expected to be furnished by the comedy team of Gunn and Brown, Novelty Four quartet, and the dancing acts by the famous troupe of stars.

Plans have been completed to care for an immense throng, and special ushers and other convenience measures have been provided by the management.

EVANSTON COPS GET SUSPENSION FOR AIDING CRIME

Chicago, February 11.—(AP)—Two policemen have been suspended by Evanston, suburban home of Vice President Dawes, as a result of an investigation of vice and crime conditions made by William A. Wilberger, called the "college graduate police chief."

The policemen, one a negro, were named, the chief said, in a confession of Glen Kenley, held on robbery charges, who said they had aided him and three others in more than a score of burglaries in the exclusive suburb.

The burglars were not only provided with lists of homes to enter, but a police auto was furnished to help haul away a loot, it was charged. Wilberger said a plot was undertaken to discredit Wilberger and Mayor Charles Bartlett by simulating a crime epidemic. Dennis Mcnery, former acting police chief, mentioned as a result of Kenley's statements, denied any complicity with his operations. Officials said no action had been taken against him.

Dennis Mcnery, former acting police chief, mentioned as a result of Kenley's statements, denied any complicity with his operations. Officials said no action had been taken against him.

The automobile was struck by another machine, driven by H. A. Dodson, of 400 Gordon street. Mrs. Bugg was driving west on Baker street and Dodson was going south on Spruce street when the two cars collided.

The right fender of Mrs. Bugg's sedan was struck by the Dodson automobile, overturning it. Detectives Hugh T. Brown and A. G. Stone reported. No case was made against either driver. Mrs. Bugg and Miss Adams escaped injury except for being shaken up, and refused to go to a hospital. Dodson was not hurt.

Mrs. Bugg and Miss Adams continued their way to Shafter Arms, 142 West Baker street, where Miss Adams made a talk in behalf of the campaign for funds for a new home for the W. C. C. A. which will open next Monday.

Edna H. Miles, 6, of 423 Jefferson street was slightly bruised and cut Thursday afternoon when struck down by an automobile on Spruce street. The home, she was treated at Grady hospital and allowed to go home. The name of the driver of the machine was not known.

Five negroes were hurt in accidents Thursday, three being injured in the collision of an automobile and street car on the corner of Spruce and Adams streets. The boys were taken to Grady hospital. The names of the drivers of the machines were not known.

Arthur Lowe, of 293 Greenleaf street was badly bruised and cut when struck from his bicycle at Spruce and Marietta streets. He was treated at Grady hospital. The driver of the machine was not known.

NEW SOUNDING DEVICE CARRIED BY FRENCH SHIP

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, February 11.—A new device for sounding depths was brought here today by the French liner Paris. It is known as the Souda Bomb and is a German invention. Captain Ernest Mauras, commander of the ship, explained the instrument, which, if successful, will do away with the traveling thousands of fathoms of line to determine the depth of the sea.

The apparatus is a gun and a microphone. The gun fires a projectile which explodes on the bottom. The explosion is recorded by the microphone. The depth is then determined by the time it takes for the sound to travel back to the ship.

Prominent Developer Pleads For Highways That Are Connected

Editor Constitution: I am very much in sympathy with you in the fight that you are making for an immediate relief of the present deplorable road conditions in this state. The time has long since passed for the mere talking of good roads, and a good road system to be completed ten, twenty or thirty years from now is merely dodging the issue.

This state is suffering from unfavorable publicity and advertising, largely attributable to our antiquated and patch-work method of building a few miles of paved road here and a few miles somewhere else in an apparent effort to satisfy every body, which, in fact, satisfies nobody.

FORD REDUCES PRICES ON ALL CLOSED CARS

A new price list for Ford passenger cars including a material reduction in prices of closed cars was announced Wednesday by Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, and new prices became effective Thursday morning, February 11.

The biggest reduction is made in the price of the Fordor Sedan which is dropped from $600 to $565, a reduction of $35.

A reduction of $60 also is made in the Tudor Sedan which is cut from $580 to $520 and the price of the coupe is reduced from $520 to $480.

In the open type cars the price of the touring car goes from $290 to $260 and the runabout from $290 to $260.

All prices are f. o. b. Detroit.

"Demand for closed cars since the improved type in colors were introduced has been constantly increasing," said a statement accompanying the announcement.

With greater output of these types costs have lessened and it is the policy of the company to give its customers the benefit of all reductions in production costs.

A slight increase is made in the price of open cars.

There will be no change in the price of the Model "T" chassis, the Fordor truck chassis or the Fordor tractor, it was stated.

$25,000 IS GIVEN TO Y. W. C. A. FUND

Two thousand men and women are to be asked to contribute the $25,000 to be raised for the Young Women's Christian association. The solicitation will be made entirely from cards furnished workers who attended a dinner given by Mel H. Wilkinson, general campaign chairman, at the chamber of commerce Thursday night. No general office-to-office or house-to-house campaign will be made.

In order to show the workers the widespread interest in the "Y. W." and in the campaign Mr. Wilkinson announced advance "voluntary" subscriptions of more than $25,000, $20,000 of the amount coming from four individuals. It is expected that at least that much more will be raised by the campaign. There has been no effort to be used to secure subscriptions in advance of the actual opening of the campaign on Monday morning but campaign officials state that a number of people who have been in touch with the work done by the "Y. W." and who wanted to show their appreciation of the work have been sending in subscriptions for several days.

The campaign will run through all of next week, $125,000 will be raised to be used in purchasing the Atlanta Athletic club building on Auburn avenue. The remaining $25,000 will be used in making necessary alterations and in equipping the building.

UNIQUE HOUSING SCHEME OFFERED BAPTIST PASTORS

A unique "housing plan" has been devised by railway officials and Pastor Hugh S. Wallace of the First Baptist church of Green Cove Springs, to solve the entertainment problem confronting his church and city during the winter Bible conference February 22-26. Not knowing how he could provide "sleeping quarters" for the large number of pastors who are expected from several states, Rev. Mr. Wallace called in officials of the Southern railway, and, in a kind of "secret conference" the minister and the railway officials found a way out for the Green Cove Springs people. And it is novel, and somewhat attractive, as follows:

"Of course our city at this season is more crowded than ordinarily," said Pastor Hugh Wallace. "Hotel and home space for preachers attending a winter Bible conference was an item to be reckoned with; so the solution of it all has been found in the Pullman car, the friend of every traveler. We find that we can 'borrow' or rather 'rent' Pullman cars for five full days cheaper than the actual cost of a round-trip lower berth fare, Atlanta to Green Cove Springs and return. So we are planning to rent as many Pullman cars as the exigency of the situation may demand. It costs exactly $5.25 one way or $10.50 round trip for lower Pullman accommodations, Atlanta to our city. And it will cost each pastor only $10 for his round trip Pullman fare plus the occupancy of his Pullman 'bed' every night during the Bible conference. We plan to 'park' these Pullman cars on the A. C. L. siding, just in the heart of our city, and only about three minutes walk from our church where the sessions will be held. Each Pullman will have free porter service and everything that the Pullman patron gets when the car is in transit."

Self-Styled Amnesia Victim Taken to Fairburn Again

After being questioned for more than two hours by Dr. M. Owens, by psycho-analyst John White, self-styled amnesia victim, was taken to Fairburn late Thursday night to again face officers of Campbell county and Mayor Palmour, who is held there and who recognized White earlier in the day.

According to officers of Fairburn and Palmour, White is the youth who was arrested there with Palmour on charges of operating an automobile without a license tag. White was to be brought back to Atlanta after the questioning Thursday night. He will be held under police guard at the orders of Acting Police Chief E. L. Jett.

White was carried Thursday afternoon to Fairburn by Detectives E. B. Meek and E. W. Ginn, and confronted Palmour, who instantly recognized him and said that the two were companions in a recent trip by auto from Homestead, Fla. Palmour said White took a sweater and $12 from him on February 4, ostensibly to return to Homestead to obtain funds to pay Palmour's fine, at which time White had been arrested.

White emphatically denied knowing Palmour, said he had never seen him before and did not remember ever being in Florida. Palmour, visibly irritated at White's statements, told officers it was "bunk" and intimated that the thrilling account of being slugged and robbed was a bid by White for sympathy.

According to White's story, he was robbed early last week by a man who boarded a train in his home town, Setauket, L. I. He remembered being thrown in a box car and then his mind became a blank until some time Saturday he regained consciousness in or near Atlanta, scrambled from the box car and found his way to police station to ask for help in identifying himself. He told police he did not know his name and did not remember what had transpired since he was slugged and robbed.

Police succeeded in ascertaining that White's home was in Setauket and that his aged mother was near death in a hospital. With this information and with aid of local elements, the lad's memory was restored and he then gave a sensational account of his alleged robbery and amnesia.

The accounts investigated.

The two widely divergent stories are being investigated by officers. The latest information to reach officials being records that the car which Palmour claims to have purchased with White in Florida was sold by manufacturers to a dealer in Waco, Ga.

Waco dealers have been asked now to trace their records of sale, and it is hoped to be able to ferret out the circumstances surrounding the alleged purchase of the machine.

White is being held pending a thorough probe of the stories of the two youths.

Bodies of Murder Senator Harris Victims Found Fights Repealing Frozen in Auto Inheritance Tax

Youngstown, O., February 11.—(Special.)—Opposing repeal of the federal inheritance tax, Senator Harris, of Georgia, declared in the senate Wednesday that "the biggest lobby has been the lobby, almost, that there has ever been in the United States has been the Wall street crowd back of this propaganda to get away from any income tax or any inheritance tax."

Florida, Senator Harris said, "put the whole country on notice" that she would not have an estate tax, and "one of the arguments made in securing the adoption of the constitutional amendment there exempting inheritances and income taxes was that the wealthy men from other states would come there."

Almost Coerced Georgia

"It coerced my state legislature so last year that they were ready to repeal the inheritance tax and the income tax because of Florida's coercion."

If Georgia had followed suit, Harris said, "Tennessee would have been the next to keep the people of its state from building homes in Georgia or Florida or Alabama and evading taxes of this kind, and then the adjoining states would have followed and soon there would have been no inheritance taxes in any of the states of the United States. That is what was intended by the tax commissions that came here to congress to do away with the inheritance tax."

The object of the move in the senate, Harris said, "is simply to get rid of any inheritance tax in any of the states and the United States."

Harris said there are three large systems of railroads in Georgia, over half of which are owned by a man from Connecticut.

Cites Georgia Railroads.

"These railroads were built up by the people of my state. They have paid freight rates and they have paid for other things that have enhanced the value of that railroad. That property has made the man in Connecticut, or New England, wealthy."

"When he dies, the property ought to help pay the taxes in the state where it belongs, where the wealth created has made the man in Connecticut wealthy, but if he died all of the inheritance would go to the state of Connecticut, instead of where his property is, and that is true in nearly all the states, particularly in the west and in the south."

DU PONT HEIRESS MAY ASK DIVORCE, SHE CONFESSES

Reno, Nev., February 11.—(Special.)—Mrs. Alicia Glendinning, foster daughter of T. Coleman DuPont, powder magnate, is establishing a residence in Reno, which she said "may ultimately" lead to her filing suit for a divorce. Mrs. Glendinning refused to discuss her reported marital difficulties and insisted that she was in the west for her health. She admitted, however, that she might seek a divorce eventually.

Mrs. Glendinning married Harold Glendinning, son of a Norfolk, Conn. postman, in 1922, while he was in England studying at Oxford as a Rhodes scholar.

PLOTS TO KILL DE RIVERA BARED IN BARCELONA

Paris, February 11.—(Special.)—A dispatch to the Journal from Hendaye, in the Franco-Spanish frontier, says that advices received from Barcelona confirm reports that several attempts were made on the life of General Primo de Rivera, the Spanish premier, during his recent stay in Barcelona.

Several bombs, it is said, were exploded in different parts of the city. One was detonated in the doorway of the captain general's office, where Primo de Rivera was staying. Another, which had been placed on the railroad track a few miles from the station, exploded with a terrific roar the moment the premier was about to take a train from Madrid.

The dispatch says the attempts are attributed to syndicalists and Catalinist elements on the eve of the trial of alleged authors of the attempt to blow up a tunnel through which the king's train was to pass on its way to Barcelona last year.

PROFESSOR RAPS APPEAL TO SEX IN FILM PLAYS

Chicago, February 11.—(Special.)—Whether the unrestrained love-making of the South Sea islands will become the vogue of American youth unless they are kept from sex stimulating motion pictures was discussed today by Professor E. A. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin, before the national motion picture conference.

"If we do not wish to continue in the direction we are moving, he asserted, 'it will be necessary for parents to do some hard thinking to arouse public opinion and find means of separating the movie plays children are to be admitted to from those which appeal to adults.'

Victory will not be won, he held, unless parents become aroused "to the insidious effect of passionate dramas upon the souls of their boys and girls."

"A more thoughtful pursuit to gain by the motion picture interests than ever before witnessed and negligent, unthinking parents are responsible for the present situation, Professor Ross averred.

CAROLINA PLAYERS INVITE COOLIDGES TO ATTEND SHOWS

Washington, February 11.—(Special.)—President and Mrs. Coolidge were invited today to attend the performance here tomorrow night of three one-act plays by the Carolina Playmakers, the University of North Carolina dramatic club.

The invitation was extended today by Senator Overman, of North Carolina, who was accompanied to the white house by a delegation of alumni headed by Edgar Turlington, president of the alumni association here, and Dr. Wade Atkinson, president of the North Carolina Society of Washington.

The president, who was told of the work the playmakers are doing toward developing a native drama in North Carolina, said he did not know whether it would be possible for him and Mrs. Coolidge to attend the performance.

NEW NUMBER PLAN GIVEN APPROVAL

Gratification over the cooperative spirit of Atlanta citizens in aiding the planning commission to systematize house numbers here, was expressed at the meeting of merchants, retail dealers and heads of public service concerns Thursday. The session was held in the council chamber at the city hall and plans were made "to put the system in effect with as little confusion as possible."

Merchants will ask that citizens notify out-of-town correspondents of the change to avoid confusion and many retail stores will place signs in their windows to remind customers to cooperate in the scheme.

R. W. Torres, engineer and secretary of the commission, pointed out the advantages of the plan, which that great advantage will come to residents in the West End and Capitol View sections were effective Monday. This includes all territory within the confines of Greensboro avenue on the north; Stewart avenue on the east and the city limits on the south and west.

Fulton county also will cooperate in numbering streets beyond the limits of Atlanta in order to eliminate duplications of numbers, according to a ruling of the county commission.

Hargrave's Luck Changes.

It was only towards the close of dinner that the Comtesse Fayaldi attempted anything of serious conversation with her host.

"Do you think," she asked Hargrave under her breath, "that I did well to advise Stephanie to remain at home tonight?"

Hargrave was a little startled; involuntarily he glanced towards Violet, met her watching eyes, and returned her smile. The comtesse tapped him lightly on the knuckles with her fan.

"Alas," she confided, "it is the hard task of those who see more than others in this world sometimes to preach wisdom and give sorrow to their dearest friends. I tried to persuade Stephanie to come to Egypt with me on Thursday."

"To Egypt?" he repeated. "Isn't this rather sudden?"

"A decision of that sort must be taken suddenly," the comtesse declared. "It was arranged between us that whilst she made up her mind I should say nothing of this to you. You observe I break my word. I break it deliberately because even those who see most clearly in life may sometimes make mistakes. I would not have the ruin of her happiness upon my shoulders, even though I saved her pride."

"You are a very wonderful woman," Hargrave said with conviction. "I have a gift," she admitted, "a gift which brings me as much sorrow as happiness. There are not many people in life upon whom one can exercise it. The occasion rises but seldom. When it does, however, it is to be made use of. Stephanie is my dearest friend, and next to her sense of honor I think her pride is the most precious thing in life to her. Such a blow to that as she might receive under certain circumstances from your hands would be a blow from which she would not easily recover. I want to save her that, if I can."

She made her way back to rejoin some acquaintances with whom she had been speaking.

"Are you in her confidence?" Hargrave asked.

"I do not need to be," the comtesse answered. "I know."

The room was crowded, and with the ball before them no one cared to dance. After dinner they made their way up to the Sporting club for half an hour. Hargrave, with Violet, and Amy Gorse, Pellingham and the comtesse, and a little crowd of other guests stood round the tables.

"How are finances?" Hargrave asked the girls between whom he was standing. "Do you want me to win some money for you?"

"I feel really," Violet acknowledged, "that I haven't a want in the world. I think I'd rather you didn't play tonight. There's something," she went on, "about your always winning which almost frightens me."

Amy Gorse laughed.

"Violet, how stupid you are!" she protested. "If a man can win here, why not? They take enough out of us. Please play a little for both of us, Sir Hargrave. I shall give you ten louis—all I can afford."

Hargrave accepted the money gravely.

"I shall take the liberty," he said, "of adding a trifle to it and also something for you, Violet. As you say, it is monotonous, but the bank's money is always worth having."

With a mille's worth of plaques, he commenced to play. One or two of the spectators watched him enviously.

"It is the monsieur who never loses," one woman whispered.

"Follow his game," another one advised her friend. "Wherever he puts his stake it will win."

Hargrave backed a number and two transversals. The ball spun. He lost. He only smiled. It had happened before the first time. He staked again, and lost. Again, with the same result. Amy Gorse sighed.

"Our money seems to be going," she remarked.

Hargrave was watching the ball with the somewhat puzzled air of the habitual winner who strikes a streak of ill fortune. He doubled his stakes, and lost again. A fit of uncertainty seized him. He handled his plaques without confidence. Suddenly he looked up at the Comtesse Fayaldi, who had slipped into the vacant place by his side. She was watching him with a curious expression in her face. As his last stake was swept away, she took him by the arm and led him into the background.

"Well, comtesse," he said, "you will no longer accuse me of being 'fey.' You see what has arrived. My luck has gone."

She looked at him intently. He had never before realized the smallness and delicacy of her features, compared with the sizes of her eyes. She seemed to be searching his face for something she failed to find, and her interest seemed altogether disproportionate with the occasion.

"Something has gone from you," she confided. "I don't know what it is, but you have lost something. It comes with that of which I spoke to Stephanie. I advise you not to play."

"But, comtesse," he protested, "I am entrusted with the task of winning a little money for two impecunious young women. I cannot disappoint them."

"You had better give them what you can afford," she advised.

"You will not win it by any game of chance."

"Why do you say that?" Hargrave demanded. "Only a little time ago you assured me I could not lose."

He suddenly felt her fingers upon his wrist. They were as cold as ice. For an appreciable period of time she said nothing. Then she turned away.

"Something has gone," she insisted. "You will not win again Stephanie. I shall see that she comes to Egypt."

She made her way back to rejoin some acquaintances with whom she had been speaking. Hargrave returned to the others of his party. Curiously enough, he was rather nettled.

"Madame, the soothsayer," he observed, "think I have lost the power of winning. We shall see."

He changed a packet of mille notes. In a quarter of an hour not a louis remained. The two girls watched him, dismayed.

"Come along to the chemin de fer table," he invited them. "Your capital is still intact. I have been playing with my own to test my luck. At chemin de fer I must win."

"Why do you go on playing?" Violet protested. "We were only joking, Amy and I."

"Please don't try any more," Amy Gorse begged. "Your luck has gone somehow or other. You will only lose a lot of money, and it doesn't matter a bit about us."

"I am curious," Hargrave admitted. "I want to try this thing out."

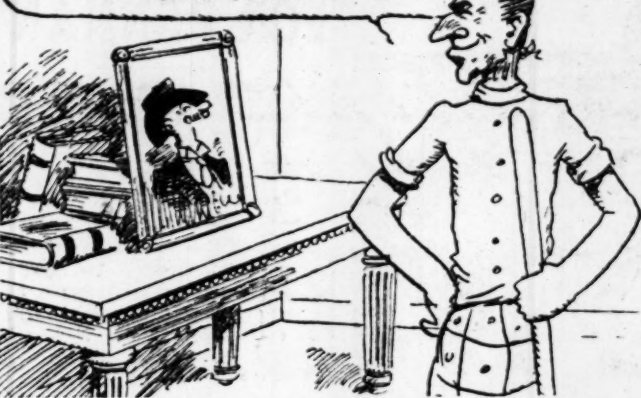

They made their way to the chemin de fer room. The big table, however, was so crowded that even Hargrave found it impossible to get near. They wandered down the room and a watchful attendant offered a place at one of the smaller tables. Hargrave seated himself and the two girls stood behind. It was not until his lefthand neighbor had thrown in the money for his bank that Hargrave recognized Trentino.

"Une banque de vingt-cinq louis," the croupier announced.

A Noted Captain of Industry has said that Fundamental honesty is the arch of business success.

"There is no reason why you should succeed," he adds, "if what you do does not benefit others."

"If you ask yourself why you are in business and can find no other reason than 'I want to make money,' you are in business without sufficient reason. A business which exists without sufficient reason is due for an early death."

"The single reason for the existence of any business must be that it supplies a human need or want, and, if my experience is worth anything, a business which has this reason for existence will be bound in the end to prosper."

These programs are divided into three or four parts, each part being devoted to a different country and presented in a different costume, authentic in every detail. We Are Deeply Grateful

IF EVER there was proof of the esteem in which this old-established concern is held in the hearts of Atlantans and Georgians, it is evidenced today. Never before have we opened our doors to such an enthusiastic, responsive crowd. Never in all our 44 years have we won greater recognition of our efforts to serve.

Indeed, we feel deeply grateful for this overwhelming confidence. It is the foundation rock upon which this store is built. The history of the J. M. High Company evolves around the four cardinal points that have established this condition, namely:

Quality in Merchandise
Lowest Prices, Quality Considered
Courtesy First and Always Truth in Advertising

Last February we celebrated our reorganization with a sale that broke all records. We are now the NEW HIGH'S, with greatly enlarged opportunities, but with the same policies as the past, the same desire to serve you, and to serve you well; and it is for this reason that the Swallow Sale is made an annual February event.

Again, we thank you. Again we promise you that values throughout the sale will surpass all previous offerings. Permit us to direct you to the feast of bargains listed elsewhere in the paper.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Battle of Bunker Hill

by J. CARRILL MANSFIELD

"DON'T FIRE UNTIL YOU SEE THE WHITES OF THEIR EYES!"

— COLONEL PRESCOTT.

ON JUNE 17, 1775, AT NOON, LORD HOWE'S REDCOATS FORMED IN LINE OF BATTLE AND ADVANCED STEADILY TOWARD THE CREST OF BUNKER HILL. THE AMERICANS AWAITED THEM CALMLY, HOLDING THEIR FIRE UNTIL THE ENEMY CAME WITHIN EASY RANGE.

Copyright, 1925, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

WITH BEATING DRUMS AND SHINING BAYONETS, THE BRITISH SWEEP UP TOWARD THE TOP TO MEET A WITHERING VOLLEY THAT DROVE THEM BACK WITH TERRIBLE LOSSES. AT THE BOTTOM OF THE HILL THE RED LINES FORMED AND CHARGED AGAIN, ONLY TO BE REPUSED WITH MORE CASUALTIES.

WARREN, A YOUNG AMERICAN LEADER, WAS KILLED IN THE BATTLE.

WHEN THE THIRD CHARGE REACHED THE TOP THE AMERICANS HAD COMPLETELY EXHAUSTED THEIR SUPPLY OF AMMUNITION AND THE BRITISH TOOK THE POSITION AT THE POINT OF THE BAYONET. THE AMERICANS FOUGHT BRAVELY WITH CLUBBED RIFLES BUT SLOWLY WERE FORCED TO RETREAT.

LOSSES AT BUNKER HILL.

BRITISH—OVER 1000 AMERICAN—440

THE LOSS OF BUNKER HILL WAS NOT A DEFEAT FOR THE AMERICANS AND A QUESTIONABLE VICTORY FOR THE BRITISH WHO PAID DEARLY FOR IT. IT PROVED THAT THE RAW COLONIALS, WITH ENOUGH POWDER, WERE A MATCH FOR THE BRITISH VETERANS. TOMORROW—THE ARMY AT CAMBRIDGE—

CHAPTER 65.
A Phone Call.

"I am disgusted with Lydia Harbrook," said Mrs. Ridgeway, Senior, to her daughter-in-law, after Lydia's all-night escapade with Landis on the island. "I am more disgusted than words can express. When she came back at 8 o'clock this morning I'd have ordered her from the house had I been in your shoes."

"They couldn't have helped it. The boat drifted off with the tide. Such things do happen."

"Lydia was at the bottom of all this!"

"Landis is fearfully upset and worried about it all," defended Rosilyn staunchly. "And, of course, it's no wonder. This explains it."

"Don't tell anyone," said Rosilyn, quickly and generously. "She intends to give the habit up, I mean—that she had the habit of smoking. I'm sure she'll be a different girl."

"So you knew about it? Then why on earth didn't you tell Landis?" Rosilyn flushed and said: "I wouldn't be a mean—advantage." Then, conscious of the oddity of this remark, since she was Landis's wife, she added, hurriedly: "I am sorry for Miss Harbrook."

"Spare your pity for a wretched object! She has small mercy on you, my child. Not that you need think Mrs. Ridgeway's anything but a good woman. She may have been indiscreet—and most men are wax in the hands of a pretty and designing minx like Lydia—but he is honorable."

"But Rosilyn was touched. Thrilled, too, by the other's words. But, indeed, she had been hurt by Landis's escapade. That the incident was on every idle, chattering tongue made it all the harder for her pride was wounded."

"Mr. Briscoe and he have gone to New York today. I'm sure it's because of this."

News of the Day FROM 69th U. S. Congress

Washington, February 11.—(AP)—Another investigation of the Aluminum Company of America, in which Secretary Mellon is a stockholder, was recommended today to the senate by its judiciary committee.

The committee divided, nine to seven, with the seven democrats and Senators Borah, Idaho, and Norris, Nebraska, republicans, voting for the Walsh report recommending such an investigation.

The other seven republicans signed the Harrell minority report recommending against any senate inquiry. The two reports will be presented to the senate and the issue will be fought out there.

Cost of Insurance.
The mounting cost of government insurance for world war veterans continues to be one of the chief budget-wrecking elements in the fiscal affairs of the federal government.

Within a few hours after a senate committee had approved an extra budget appropriation of $38,500,000 for payment of veterans insurance and compensation, President Coolidge sent $28,000,000 to meet lump sum insurance payments.

U. S. Aid for Vets.
Government aid to the encampment of the United Confederate Veterans in Birmingham, Ala., in May was proposed in a bill today by Representative Huddleston, democrat, Alabama, who asked that the secretary of war be authorized to lend 3,000 cots, 3,000 bed sacks and 6,000 blankets for the gathering.

Boll Weevil Fight.
An amendment to the pending agricultural appropriation bill making available $250,000 for airplanes to fight the boll weevil, was introduced today by Senator Randall, democrat, Louisiana.

The measure, which has been passed by the house and now is pending in the senate, provides $300,000 for fighting the boll weevil.

SLANDER CHARGES OF SOUTHERN GIRL DENIED BY TEACHER
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Atlanta Journal.)

New York, February 11.—A charge of slander made against him by Miss Leola N. Witherspoon, of Meridian, Miss., was denied by Professor Arthur Johnson Eames, of Cornell university, in briefs submitted in supreme court today.

Professor Eames asked for either $10,000 damage suit, or the transfer of the case to Tomkins county for trial. The professor asserts the reason he refused Miss Witherspoon admission to the honorary class was because she violated the rules of the university.

Miss Witherspoon today said: "Perhaps the best answer to what Professor Eames has said concerning me is that after leaving Cornell I came to New York, entered Columbia university, and won my degree as master of arts in botany, his subject, a distinction in the latter."

"I am a graduate student at Columbia at the present time. I have no desire for notoriety, but I had to protect my good name."

BAKING AND COAL CORB STOCKS GAIN

New York, February 11.—(AP)—Further irregularity developed in today's curb market but major speculative activity was on the up side. Baking issues, which were weak earlier in the week, rallied briskly on the appearance of strong buying support.

General Baking A and Continental Baking B each showed net gains of more than 3 points at 68 1/4 and 21 3/4, respectively.

Coal stocks gathered strength on reports that miners and operators had resumed conferences in an effort to agree on a plan for the resumption of anthracite mining. Glen Alden Coal closed 1/2 point higher at 192 and Lehigh Valley Coal certificates showed a net gain of 2 3/8 at 44 7/8.

Oil shares were moderately active with prices generally higher. Many of the higher nonferrous metal prices of the week, rallied briskly on the appearance of strong buying support.

United Light and Power responded to an announcement of plan to split up the stock by advancing nearly 4 points to 140 and then dropped back to 138 1/4. American Super Power B and Electric Bond and Shares also were in good demand but Northern Ohio Power was heavy.

Increased activity developed in the cheap mining stocks on expectation of higher nonferrous metal prices in the spring, permitting profitable operations by some companies. Kay Copper, Hecla, New Cornelia and Tonopah touched new high prices for the year.

MALONEY RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT OF CONSOLIDATED

New York, February 11.—(AP)—Thomas B. Maloney admitted today he had resigned as president of the Consolidated Stock exchange, the affairs of which are being investigated by the attorney general's department.

He also admitted that H. M. Betts, treasurer, likewise had resigned.

Mr. Maloney said his resignation, to be effective February 15, was voluntarily submitted a week ago to the board of governors and immediately accepted.

Mr. Betts, confirming Mr. Maloney's announcement concerning his resignation, said it was submitted to the board of governors and immediately accepted under protest. Although both declined to discuss their action in detail, Mr. Betts said he had continued resigning since the present temporary injunction against the exchange was obtained.

The Day in Finance

R. L. BARNUM

New York, February 11.—Professional traders started at the opening of the market this morning to sell stocks short, picking up specialties and extending to motor shares. Overnight news of the cutting of closed car prices by Ford together with signs of further slowing down in the steel and iron trade encouraged professionals to sell stock short. Losses of from 2 to 10 points or more were shown on the tape when the news came that anthracite operators and miners had quietly without any announcement resumed conferences in an effort to end the strike. Selling of stocks then ceased with some of the hard coal stocks advancing. Motor also came back. Trading in oils and rails was light.

For weeks pressure to end the strike from business men in the anthracite districts has been increasing. General trade in these districts suffering acutely from the struggle which has been going on since September 1. Many of the mines in the east filled last summer in anticipation of the anthracite strike are now empty with the result that the demand for coke as a substitute for anthracite is increasing rapidly with the price of coke now up over 100 per cent above normal and still advancing. Manufacturers of iron and steel cannot compete with house owners in bidding up the price of coke and furnaces are now being blown out. With the slowing down in the steel and iron trade now at the point where general trade is being hurt, pressure of business men in general to end the anthracite strike is being added to that of the business men in the anthracite districts. Hence, the unannounced resumption of the strike by the anthracite operators and miners.

In some quarters, the belief exists that earnings lost by the anthracite operators and miners would be made up by the resumption of anthracite mining. This is a mistake. Made anthracite prices already too high are advanced there will be no recovery from the loss of coal over the strike. Realization of this fact is partly responsible for the resumption of confidence in the anthracite operators and miners.

Call Money Goes Down.
Call money renewed at 5 per cent, but soon dropped to 4 1/2 per cent. The money market is quiet. Time money was easier, all loans up to and including 90 days being quoted at 4 1/2. Earlier in the week 4-3-4 was quoted for 60 days.

The Atlanta Theater.

"Artists and Models," upon which Atlanta has been feasting optically during the current week at the Atlanta theater, begins here over the leave off. It is bright, sparkling and clever, and, in good taste. Scenically the show is one of opulent splendor; there are comedy skits without number that meet the most critical demands; and there are those wonderful 18 Hoffman girls, whose marvelous dancing fairly take the audience by storm. And how good these girls are to look upon; how graceful and attractive their every move. There will be a performance tonight at 8:30, with the final show at 10:30.

ings announced for tomorrow (Saturday) at 2:30 and 8:30 o'clock.

Coming to the Atlanta.

Word has been received in New York from Vienna that plans are under way to present Schubert's grand opera, "Rosamund," following reports of the tremendous success in this country of the Schubert opera, "Blossom Time," which the Messrs. Schubert will present in this city for its farewell appearance at the Atlanta theater on next Monday night, and throughout the week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Keith's Forsyth.

If you like good singing—and who does not?—you should see and hear Miss Lydia Barry, lyrical raconteuse, who is appearing on the program of Keith's Forsyth theater the last three days of this week in a splendid repertoire of songs.

Also the bill includes the act of Una Clayton and company, who offer a comedy skit, entitled "Collusion," in which the Five Harmonicas and Hewill and Hall add their bit of melody in "Songland's Favorite Songs." See Jung "Flyer Venus of the Air" concludes the bill.

Loew's Grand.

Many late dances from Broadway are found in the revue of the Welder Sisters, the headline attraction at Loew's Grand theater this week. The Welder girls are versatile entertainers and able dancers. They play several numbers on the violin and banjo and singing songs close harmony. Other pleasing acts on the bill are Bert Walton, comedian; Frank Dixon and company in a comedy sketch entitled "By Appointment; Walsh, Daley and Walsh, singers of popular songs; and Reck and Reck, in a sensational balancing act. Pauline Starke and Charles Ray are stars in "Bright Lights," the Loew feature picture for the week.

More Loew's Theaters.

Marcus Loew announces three new theaters to be built in Texas, the first to be started in Houston and others to follow at Dallas and San Antonio. The deal for the Houston property was closed by Jesse Jones, of Houston, representing the Houston Properties corporation, and A. E. Schuler, representing Marcus Loew. The plans, drawn by Architect H. C. Finn, of Houston, call for a theater with a seating capacity of approximately 3,000 and a 10-story office building. The theaters planned for Dallas and San Antonio will be constructed along the same lines. When completed, the three will be added to the southern and southwestern link of the Loew chain of theaters, now extended throughout the United States, Canada, France, England and Egypt.

The Howard.

"Hands Up," Raymond Griffith's latest and funniest comedy, is the principal screen attraction at the Howard theater this week. Griffith appears to follow at Dallas and San Antonio. The deal for the Houston property was closed by Jesse Jones, of Houston, representing the Houston Properties corporation, and A. E. Schuler, representing Marcus Loew. The plans, drawn by Architect H. C. Finn, of Houston, call for a theater with a seating capacity of approximately 3,000 and a 10-story office building. The theaters planned for Dallas and San Antonio will be constructed along the same lines. When completed, the three will be added to the southern and southwestern link of the Loew chain of theaters, now extended throughout the United States, Canada, France, England and Egypt.

Tudor Theater.

Unless you're utterly immune to the power which makes the blood tingle in the veins of the audience, you can't fail to be captivated by the greatest tangle of the season when you see the horse race presented in the William Fox production, "Gold Heels," according to the program reports. This adaptation of the Henry Blossom stage play, "Checkers," is booked for an engagement at the Tudor theater beginning today.

Rialto Theater.

Hundreds of brides and grooms are seeing themselves pictured remarkably true to life this week at the Rialto theater in the showing of "The First Year," taken from John Golden's stage success. Matt Moore and Kathryn Perry play the leading roles. "The Adventures of Mazie" provide further fun in the second episode. Whitney Huber, director of the Rialto orchestra, is introducing a new musical number this week called "Night of Love," by J. M. Harris. It has never before been played in Atlanta. Pathe News is on every Rialto program.

SMALL RECEIPTS
CAUSED ILLNESS
OF JOLSON, CLAIM

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, February 11.—There is a significant wagging of heads and clucking of tongues along the Rialto and sky hints that box office receipts may have had something to do with the sudden illness of Al Jolson, who had been playing "Big Boy" at the Apollo, and Eddie Cantor, star of "Kid Boots."

Both players developed pleurisy about the same time and retreated back to New York, under "orders of their physicians."

During the excitement everybody forgot to ask what became of Mary Eaton, co-star in "Kid Boots," who had been playing "Big Boy" at the Apollo, and Eddie Cantor, star of "Kid Boots."

Anyway, Jolson wired from Palm Beach today a denial that he had died.

FLORENCE VIDORFranco To Ask
Permit To Fly
To New York

Buenos Aires, February 11.—(P)—Having flown from Palos, Spain, to Buenos Aires, Commander Ramon Franco said today that he would shortly continue the flight from Buenos Aires to New York. He added that his plane, the Plus Ultra, was in splendid condition.

Francisco desires to fly home by way of the South American west coast, crossing the southern Andes and visiting Chile, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, Cuba and the United States. He has been privately informed that his plans will be approved.

"I have arrived," this was the message sent by Franco to King Alfonso shortly after arrival here yesterday from Montevideo, Uruguay, on the last stage of his flight.

Time of Flight.

The 6,232 miles were flown by the seaplane in 62 hours 52 minutes. Franco and his companions were given an ovation by thousands of the people of Buenos Aires. The demonstration began when a large number of planes, flying in a triangle, with the Plus Ultra in its apex, were seen coming up over the Rio de La Plata towards the capital. It continued until after the commander had delivered a message from King Alfonso to the president of Argentina, paid a visit to the mayor and went to his hotel for a rest.

The flight from Montevideo to Buenos Aires was made in one hour and 20 minutes, notwithstanding the fact that the seaplane was forced to come down to stop at the water tank could not be stopped.

Message From King.

During the day Franco received a message from King Alfonso making the commander and Ruiz De Alca and Duran, his companions, "gentlemen of the house" of the king. The king informed Franco that he had pardoned a member of the foreign legion from Ferrol, Franco's home town, in whom Franco had interested himself.

Balkans Agree
Not To Recognize
Russ Government

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Vienna, February 11.—Russian foreign expansion suffered a most serious setback yesterday when the foreign ministers of Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania, in a meeting at Temesvar, Rumania, agreed not to recognize the soviet government for the present.

Dr. Eduard Benes, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, whose recognition of Russia was almost officially set for this month, gave as his reason the fact that Czechoslovakia had changed its viewpoint.

Meanwhile the three ministers agreed that the forthcoming Geneva disarmament conference was America participating, which would do much good, could not accomplish its ultimate aim of pacifying Europe, because nothing can force Russia to disarm and the Russian arm to be the greatest menace to peace in Europe.

Another important matter that was discussed and upon which the three nations came to a full agreement was that Prince Otto, son of former Emperor Zita of Austria, would never get the Hungarian throne.

Furthermore, the premiers adopted a resolution that the Hungarian government, interfering with its political ramifications, involving most of Europe, must be fully exposed.

The Spot

The LOGICAL POINT At FIVE POINTS

The Peachtree Arcade is located on the same block and within a few feet of Atlanta's famous "Five Points." It is Atlanta's very center commercially.

Over 25,000 people pass through the Arcade daily by actual count and thousands more pass the Peachtree and Broad Street entrances. Every street car line in Atlanta passes the Arcade or within one block of it.

If you contemplate opening a retail business or a display room of any character, explain your idea in detail to our rental agent, as the structural layout of the Arcade makes it possible to change, add to or consolidate almost at will.

A large department store could be housed in the present structure with slight alterations. Likewise the present building is adaptable to bank, trust company or insurance company usage. There are merely a few of the many classes of business that could be accommodated in the Arcade.

It is a combination of low rent with central location and maximum display frontage that is seldom available in a city of Atlanta's size.

P. O. Box 1731, Atlanta, Ga.Funeral Services
Of Paul Trammell
Held at Dalton

Dalton, Ga., February 11.—(Special).—Dalton paused today and paid tribute to its first citizen, Paul B. Trammell, chairman of the Georgia public service commission, who died Wednesday morning, and whose funeral was held here today. City offices and all places of business were closed for an hour, an honorary escort of business and professional men attending the rites.

The services were held at the First Methodist church, conducted by the pastors of the three local churches, Rev. G. F. Venable, Methodist; Rev. P. S. Sims, Presbyterian; and Rev. Josiah Cradup, Baptist. The services were largely attended.

A beautiful musical program was rendered, followed by a very short service, which consisted of reading and prayer.

The entire immediate family and many near relatives were present. Many out-of-town friends attended the services, including Judge R. B. Russell, Commissioners W. R. McDonald and J. B. Bostick, and J. S. Springfield, secretary; J. Houston, Johnston, Mr. Webster, Major D. F. McClatchey, E. W. Camp, of Atlanta; Dr. Joe P. Bowdoin, of Adairsville, and many others.

John, the faithful porter for the service commission, came to attend the funeral of his friend for many years.

Film Star in Tilt
With Cameramen
Over 'Close-Ups'

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, February 11.—Bebe Daniels, pretty film star, is in Chicago today, accompanied by plenty of "artistic temperament" that spent itself in a lively spat with newspaper photographers. She is on her way from California to New York for a new picture.

"I absolutely will not pose for close-ups," she said, stamping a daintily shod foot.

"What's the matter?" asked one disgruntled and very undiplomatic photographer. "Are you afraid you are getting too old to stand a 'close-up'?"

"That started the hurricane, and press agents hustled about frantically trying to pour oil on the troubled waters."

"Are you engaged?" asked another reporter.

"To whom?" she snapped.

"I don't know. What do you think marriage?"

"I haven't got anything against marriage. I've been battling with lions, tigers and other savage animals in my recent pictures, and I'm not ready yet to take on anything else wild in the shape of a husband. However, that doesn't mean I'm going to be an old maid all my life."

Miss Daniels said she would go to Palm Beach from New York.

In Florida she will appear as the new "Feminine Harold Lloyd" in comedy.

CHRIST IS COMING SOON, EVANGELIST
TELLS AUDIENCE

Declaring that Christ is coming soon, Uldine Mabelle Utley, girl evangelist, urged her hearers at the Gospel Tabernacle Thursday night to be ready for His coming.

"If you are not prepared for His appearance at any moment of the day or night, then you are not ready as a Christian should be to meet Him," she said.

The young preacher asserted that where the first coming of Christ is spoken of one time in the Bible, His second coming is mentioned many times. The New Testament, she said, mentions the second coming of Jesus 308 times.

The young evangelist will speak again today at 2:15 o'clock and tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

SPICE AND VARIETY IN UNUSUAL BILL
AT KEITH'S FORSYTH

Good vaudeville bills always embody spice and variety and both of them are contained in the program offered at Keith's Forsyth the latter half of the week.

Little spice is noted in the first three acts, but the last two are not only unique but are far beyond the ordinary. They are offered by Lydia Barry, billed the lyrical raconteuse in a repertoire of songs, and the Five Harmonicas in a round-up of tunes. The monologue of Miss Barry won for her prolonged applause, while the "Harmonicas" played real music by using bottles, rip-saws, automobile horns and the like.

Jack Hewitt and Fred Hall offer a fair act in "Songland's Favorite Song." The bill is opened by Hee Jung, "Flying Venus of the Air," and such stunts as she offers are seen on few vaudeville bills.

CONFEDERATE VETERAN IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock today from the Church of Immaculate Conception. Rev. Father J. G. Cassidy will officiate. The body will be taken to Savannah for interment. Greenberg & Bond in charge.

HIGHWAY BONDS VOTED IN TERRELL

Dawson, Ga., February 11.—(Special).—By a vote of 1,080 to 73, a bond issue of $300,000 for road building was voted in Terrell county Thursday. When this amount is matched by state and federal aid it is expected to pave more than 60 miles of the principal highways of the county. The vote was the heaviest polled in the county in years.

TIRE DEALER FREED IN RECORDER'S COURT

The case of A. O. Kline, 20, who conducts a tire accessory shop at Highland avenue and Boulevard, charging violation of the ordinance which prohibits the opening of business places on Sunday, was dismissed Thursday. When this amount is matched by state and federal aid it is expected to pave more than 60 miles of the principal highways of the county. The vote was the heaviest polled in the county in years.

In dismissing Kline, Recorder Holloway said he believed this business should not be permitted to the point of selling merchandise promiscuously.

Other cases which were to have been tried in recorder's court Thursday were continued until today. Kline was represented by W. O. State.

SAVANNAH PLANT HAS $100,000 FIRE

Savannah, Ga., February 11.—(Special).—Spontaneous combustion caused the loss of probably $100,000 worth of raw sugars in the storage warehouse of the Savannah Sugar Refining corporation tonight at Port Wentworth, eight miles west of Savannah.

The fire originated at the bottom of a huge stack of sugar sacks, and was discovered by workmen when an explosion was caused by the highly inflammable material. Over 250,000 sacks of sugar were stored in the warehouse, according to information gained at the refinery.

The warehouse was not damaged, as it is of a steel and galvanized iron construction, and the fire was confined to the pile of sugar. Fire apparatus from Savannah was called to assist in fighting the smoldering blaze.

"To whom?" she snapped.

"I don't know. What do you think marriage?"

"I haven't got anything against marriage. I've been battling with lions, tigers and other savage animals in my recent pictures, and I'm not ready yet to take on anything else wild in the shape of a husband. However, that doesn't mean I'm going to be an old maid all my life."

Miss Daniels said she would go to Palm Beach from New York.

In Florida she will appear as the new "Feminine Harold Lloyd" in comedy.

Georgia Peaches
Get Right of Way
Over All Trains

Macon, Ga., February 11.—(Special).—Carriers of Georgia peaches to interstate destinations will decrease the rate on all shipments made to eastern markets and increase in about the same proportion the rates on all shipments made to western sections in a proposal on rates offered before Thursday. The proposal was made by the Interstate Commerce commission, here today for approval.

Exhibits offered by F. B. McConnell, general freight agent of the Central of Georgia railway since 1916, explained the significance of the proposal and stressed features that it was claimed would be fair to both carriers and shippers. A division of the peach growing section into five groups was suggested under the plan. There were only two witnesses who testified for the carriers today, the other being J. E. Rolling, superintendent of the Southern railway terminals of Cincinnati.

The Georgia peach, it developed, has the right of way over all traffic and freight and passenger trains alike are sidetracked without a day in order that the "peach special" may not be delayed by more than a few minutes. The running time from Chattanooga to Cincinnati for a special peach train is 15 hours, or an average of 23 miles per hour, it was testified.

Comparison of Rates.

Mr. McConnell gave a summary of the rates on Georgia peaches covering the last 25 years and then went into comparisons of the per car revenue derived from the fruit and from other commodities, and further comparison of the rates on peaches from Georgia and from other sections of the country to the same and to similar markets.

In a series of exhibits showing comparative rates, the witness demonstrated that rates of the Georgia shippers in many instances are considerably lower than are the rates paid by peach growers of Jacksonville, Tex., Koshkonong, Mo., Rudy, Ark., Wynnewood, Okla. The towns named are the centers of peach growing belts in those states that compare on a small scale with the Georgia belt and Fort Valley as the center.

As a striking instance of the difference in per car revenue derived from peaches and from other classes of freight, the witness introduced a table comparing the figures on peaches and on Georgia clay, which is shipped in bulk. The revenue on peaches is $43.85 more. This difference is made by the car loading which is 20,000 pounds on peaches, but 11,320 on clay. In addition, the witness said, the peaches must move under expedited service, in special refrigerator cars in the best of condition, while "any car that will roll" will safely haul the clay.

In another comparison of a Georgia product a table shows the rate on peaches to Detroit at 99-1/2 cents and the rate on peanuts shipped from Albany and Dawson at 88 cents, but the car revenue from the peanuts is greater by $65 because the minimum load for the groundpeas is 30,000 pounds.
